ELOPED WITH NIECE

CONVICT UNCLE OF THE CHARGE

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 31.—Perry Kent, former resident of Mitchell, Neb., was sentenced to from one to ten years in San Quentin penitentiary on a statutory charge involving his young neice, Gladys Kent. It is alleged that Kent deserted his wife in Mitchell. According to authorities the girl admitted her guilt and was placed on probation for two years. Kent is forty-one years old

FIGHT OVER A CONVICT

Youth Who "Confessed" Sensational Council Bluffs Holdup Center of Battle.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Dec. 31.—While the fight over the release of Ray M Snodderly, Wichita, Kas., youth who "confessed" to a sensational holdup here "just for a thrill" threatened to split official Council Bluffs wide open, Sheriff Percy Lainson received a telegram from the chief of police at Whiting, Ind., stating that Snodderly was working there as a steeplejack on the day of the robbery.

Mayor Jack Harding today entered the fray by issuing a statement declaring that Sheriff Lainson is either "working for a selfish motive or else has become insane," in demanding that the boy be released.

Lainson refused to enter into personalities with Harding and said he was merely doing his duty as he saw it. Lainson charged that the police who obtained the "confession" encouraged young Snodderly and drew diagrams of the scene of the holdup for him so that he could convince the judge that he was guilty.

The dispute between the mayor and sheriff is said to be an aftermath of the bitter ku klux klan fight waged here last election. Harding, supported by the klan, was elected, as was Lainson, who is a bitter enemy of the hooded organization Both are republicans.

Young Snodderly now says he never heard of the robbery until he was arrested as a vagrant last week. Wishing to become known as a "hard boiled egg" he confessed to the crime and was immediately sentenced to twenty-five years imprisonment.

Grain Market Opinions.

Chicago Tribune Wheat traders who have not been scared by the decline regard the market as a purchase on any further attack. Export sales wheat 600,000 bushels rye 200,000 France ancelled amounts of domestic wheat, and was said to have replaced it by purchases in other countries. There were unconfirmed rumors at the seaboard that Russia had bought large amounts of flour.

Chicago Herald and Examiner: It was believed that many of the big longs were quieting getting out of their grain prior to the expected liquidation after the turn of the year. Pit brokers regarded the bulk of yesterday's selling as for the account of prominent holders.—Lamson Bros. & Co.

OLD DOBBIN STILL KICKING.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—Contrary to the general belief that the automobile has relegated old Dobin to the pension rolls is the authoritative statement from the department of commerce that the demand for horse-drawn vehicles has nearly doubled in the past two years. According to figures made public today by the department, there was an increase of more than 120 per cent in the manufacture of horse-drawn vehicles last year as compared with the total production for 1921. The last biennial census report, just concluded, shows that 236,091 carriages, wagons and sleds were manufactured in the United States in 1923 at a total value of $22,493,408. In 1921, when the last previous census was taken, 107,279 horse-drawn vehicles, with a total valuation of $12,175,206, were manufactured.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—Appointment of Dr. John L. Coulter, president of the North Dakota Agricultural college, as secretary of agriculture to succeed Secretary Gore, who will retire in March, was urged by Representative Burtness, republican, North Dakota, who called on President Coolidge at the white house today.

Coulter's name is one of several who have been submitted to the president for his consideration during the past several weeks.

PENN AND THE BEARS MEET AT BERKELEY

BERKELEY, Cal., Dec. 31.—(United Press.)—Penna's football men worked the train kinks and travel fat from their persons today behind the guarded gates of Memorial stadium while California football players rested and listened to blackboard lectures.

The Penna team arrived yesterday and held their first practice with the public invited. Reports that practically every man gained weight, many as much as ten pounds on the long trip seemed borne out by their lack of snap on the field.

Critics declared, however, that this Penna team stood the trip a good bit better than the last quaker eleven to invade the west and looked for Coach Young's men to be in tip top condition tomorrow.

Odds that California will win and some even money that the Bears will beat the quakers by ten points, persisted after those with any money to bet had looked over the invading tribe.

MRS. BROZ GETS DIVORCE

Justice Dean Excoriates Husband for Bestiality and Vicious Conduct Says Proved.

The divorce decree entered in the district court of Saline county which freed Mary Broz from Frank Broz was affirmed by the supreme court in a decision filed Wednesday by Justice Dean, who excoriates the defendant in his findings. The court says that the evidence fully sustained all of the wife's charges, that the alleged condonation cannot be urged because his abuse continued after they had been reunited, and that the alimony is not excessive.

The court finds that Broz, who is a farmer, was guilty of cruelty, drunkenness and bestiality too revolting to recount in the decree. He says that he is proved to be a man of such ungovernable and vicious temper that he had killed a horse with a pitchfork by jabbing the animal in the eyes and head; that he had killed one sow by shooting and another by beating it with a stick; that when his wife remonstrated over his cruelty to the animals he told her to shut up or he would serve her the same way.

The court says that ever since the Volstead law went into effect he has kept liquor of one kind or another in his home, and when he could buy none he made potato whisky; that he sold a cow his wife's parents had given her and with the $75 proceeds had bought moonshine whisky. He finds the husband had wrongfully accused his wife of adulterous conduct with hired men and doctors, while he himself boasted of his successes with other women; that he was indecent and vile in his talk, and his idea of entertaining company was to read licentious poetry and letters; that he compelled his wife to work in the field and barnyard, and that he had once told her that if his new-born babe looked like any of her folks he would kill it.

CROSS-WORDS VS. GUM.

WASHINGTON (By mail)—Gum chewing may be dying out in the United States, its greatest stronghold The gum-chewing stenographer may be in the process of being eliminated by the one who works cross word puzzles. At any rate the imports of chicle the raw material for gum decreased last year Only $4,123,000 worth of the elastic substance derived from the milky juice of the sapodilla tree was brought in from Mexico, Honduras and the British West Indies—a decrease of a half-million dollars from the previous year, according to department of commerce figures. Europe, however, may take up the gum chewer's burden. Nearly three million pounds of American-made chewing gum, valued at $1,385,000, was exported during the year, of which France took the largest part.

DIVORCES ALLAN RYAN

Wife of Twenty-two Years and Mother of Six Children Freed From Financier.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—The "poison pen" mystery, which gave many prominent New Yorkers sleepless nights two years ago. was recalled today when it became known that Mrs. Sarah Tuck Ryan had obtained a divorce from Allan A. Ryan.

The decree was entered at New York City on July 19 and made final October 19, but as testimony was heard before a referee the fact that Mrs. Ryan had divorced her husband was for some time a secret. She charged misconduct with an unnamed woman.

Ryan, who is perhaps best known for his famous "corner" in Stutz shares, which resulted in his failure with liabilities of more than $30,000,000, is son of Thomas Fortune Ryan.

He and Mrs. Ryan had been married twenty-two years and had six children.

It was early in 1923 that Ryan acted where other prominent victims had kept silent thru fear of publicity and went to the district attorney with information that his wife's name had been linked with that of George Maxwell, president of the American Society of Authors, Composers and Publishers, in a series of "poison pen" letters

In consequence of Ryan's action, it developed that more than a score of persons had received scurrilous and obscene letters, attacking friends and in most instances describing in detail relations of married women with Maxwell.

Eventually, Maxwell was indicted by the grand jury, charged with sending slanderous letters about Mrs. Ryan to Ryan. It developed that photographs of Mrs. Ryan and a nightgown were taken from Maxwell's apartments in connection with the case.

Maxwell pleaded he himself had received scurrilous letters and had been a victim of the "poison pen" writer and indictments against him were dismissed for want of sufficient evidence, whereat many women in society and the artistic world of New York breathed easier.

At the time Ryan said he had no intention of divorcing Mrs. Ryan, since both he and his wife were Catholics.

Rhinelander, was held in $5,000 bail in the Tombs court, New York city and remanded to a cell to await trial

The youth regretted the affair afterward and said he had hoped to return home with riches, and with Christmas coming on the hope urged him on

NO BASIS FOR THE SUIT

Cyrus McCormick Denies That He Caused Wife of Edwin Jacobs to Lose Love for Him.

CHICAGO, Dec. 31.—There is no basis for an alienation suit for $500,000, brought against him by Edwin Jacobs of New York, Cyrus H. McCormick, chairman of the board of directors of the International Harvester company, stated today.

"The suit is absolutely without merit," he stated "The entire matter is in the hands of my New York attorneys." Beyond this he refused to comment.

The papers in the motion made in the state court disclose that Jacobs, forty-seven, and considered fairly wealthy, charges Mr. McCormick, who is sixty-five, with having showered presents and money upon Mrs Jacobs, attractive and thirty-five. The papers further allege that Mrs Jacobs no longer feels the affection for her husband that she formerly did, and asks for the large damages.

Barber, Fackenthal and Giddings, attorneys for McCormick, issued the following statement: "We shall be prepared to show that if Mr. Jacobs lost the affections of his wife, our client was in no way responsible and that fact is and has at all times been known to Mr. Jacobs"

McCormick's attorneys have moved to transfer the action to federal courts because Jacobs residence is in New York, while McCormick lives here

Cyrus H. McCormick is son of the inventor of the reaper, and founder of the McCormick fortune, and a brother of Harold McCormick, husband of Ganna Walska colorful grand opera singer. He has been a widower since 1921, when his wife, a social and philanthorpic leader, died

START WORK OF GRAVELING

Find Gravel Pit Which May Reduce Construction Cost.

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., Dec 31.—Farmers in the vicinity of Otoe called at the court house here today to outline tentatively the organization of a graveling district near that village Preliminary grading has already commenced A gravel pit has been discovered not far from Otoe and it is believed the cost of the entire project would not be more than $2,200 a mile for a good road of three-inch thickness, the gravel to be spread for a width of 21 feet on a dirt base 24 feet wide

PORCUPINE, NOT BEAR

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y. (By mail)—A cattle buyer recently came into the hamlet of Mountain View with teeth chattering and a tale of a big bear he had seen in the barn of an abandoned farm. The local Daniel Boones immediately unlimbered their artillery and hastened to the barn, with high hopes of bear skin rugs and bear steaks. All they found was an extra large porcupine asleep on a rafter.

WIFE WINCED DURING KISS

CHICAGO, Dec. 31.—"When a woman frowns and winces as her husband kisses her there must be something rotten in Denmark."

In those words Oscar Harmon from Southeast Missouri, a college student, nurse maid in a professor's home, and guardian of the professor's wife, explained how he came to find out that Prof. R. Cresap Journey was a "pinch-kissing" husband

Harmon was a witness before Judge Joseph Sabath in Helen Journey's appeal for a divorce from her professor husband, claiming he mistrusted her by providing cruel pinches with every kiss The witness said he had lived in the Journey home at Columbia, Mo., taking care of the two Journey children, and visited them after the professor moved to Mount Vernon, Ia Professor Journey is now teaching at North Carolina agricultural college, Raleigh.

After telling of one occasion when he said the professor pushed Mrs Journey against a stove and another time when he shook her violently, Harmon was asked about the kissing episodes.

"How did you happen to know that Professor Journey pinched his wife?" Journey's attorney asked.

"I saw him," Harmon replied.

"Were you interested in a man kissing his wife?"

"I was when I saw the look of pain on her face. That didn't seem natural to me. When a woman frowns and winces as her husband kisses her there must be something rotten in Denmark.

"And so I watched them the next time they clinched and I saw his arm steal around her waist and he pinched her on the arms and back."

Harmon next told of the professor asking him to make love to Mrs. Journey.

"What did you say?"

"I said I'd rather not. I told him I was a gentleman. Then he said I'd have to leave his home if I wouldn't help keep the family together."

Judge Sabath interrupted: "He wanted you to make love to his wife to keep the family together?"

"Yes, he said he wanted to get something on her because she had so much on him already he was afraid they'd have to separate."

Since 1921, the witness said, he has been a "sort of protector" to Mrs. Journey. He admitted living with her in Chicago, but insisted he was simply a roomer.

Journey, in a cross bill names young Harmon as co-respondent.

Other witnesses are to be heard before Judge Sabath makes his ruling.

M'KIE'S STORY OF DIAMOND RING DEAL

Names Two Men He Says Showed Him How to Get Jewels by Mail and Helped Him Return Them.

The government is looking for two men implicated by W. W. McKie in a written statement signed by him Wednesday, giving his version of the diamond ring deal for which he was arrested on complaint of Postal Inspector Williams. McKie waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to the grand jury under $1,000 bond which he expected to provide.

When first arrested, McKie denied that he was the man wanted, saying his initials were W. W. J. and he spelled his name McKee. He was identified by a former landlady, however, as the roomer at 139 South Ninth who signed the register "W. W. McKie," and that was the name he signed to his statement.

The complaint charges that about April 25, McKie devised a scheme to defraud the Harold Lachman company of 200 South Peoria street, Chicago, by ordering diamonds by mail on approval, and returning imitation stones in place of them, saying he was not satisfied and did not wish to buy. The technical charge is use of the mails to defraud.

McKie's own statement is that while living at 139 South Ninth he met a well dressed man, a dishonorably discharged soldier, who told him how easy it was to get things without money, and that under this fellow's influence he did write to the Lachman company and received two rings. He kept these in his room, he said, and by and by heard that the company was inquiring about them. The other man had told him, however, that after about a week's investigation the matter would be dropped, so he did not get uneasy.

About a month ago he heard again, he says, that the rings were the object of inquiry, and so he got another man to help him return them. This man wrote a letter to the Chicago firm, saying that the rings were being sent back, and this McKie signed "An unseen and unknown friend in Lincoln" The letter said McKie had never received the rings, and the unknown friend was returning them so he would not get into trouble This letter was written at 227 South Eleventh, where McKie had moved after leaving the South Ninth room on October 2?. He has been employed at the gas plant

Government officers have ascertained that there was such a man as the one McKie described as an ex soldier and that he had been at the South Ninth street place during the fall The second man however is an unknown quantity so far tho McKie stuck to his story Wednesday afternoon and respectfully repudiated Judge Whitmore's suggestion that the letter writer was perhaps a "lady friend"

HOLD HOLDUP SUSPECTS

Iowa State Agent Fails to Recognize Four Men Held at Omaha as Soldier Bandits.

OMAHA, Dec. 31.—Possibility of identifying four bank holdup suspects under arrest here as the men who held up banks in this vicinity recently narrowed today.

Hi Yackey, Iowa state agent, the sheriff and two other persons from Soldier, Ia., failed to recognize them as the persons who took part in a "reign of terror" during a bank robbery in Soldier.

Guarding against the possibility that an attempt would be made to free the group on a habeas corpus writ, formal charges have been placed against them. Charges of possession of burglar tools were made against R. H. Kinzie, his wife Rose, Elmer Dunning and William Marsh.

Kinzie was turned over to federal authorities to answer a charge of interstate transportation of a stolen automobile and will be lodged in county jail today.

REALTORS PLAN BANQUET

Are Getting Ready for Annual Affair of January 7 at Grand Hotel.

Plans for the annual banquet were the principal topic at the realtors' weekly luncheon Wednesday at the chamber of commerce The banquet is scheduled for Wednesday evening, January 7, at the Grand Hotel and Dan Hayes is chairman of the committee in charge Preliminary reports announced musical features, an address by an Omaha realtor and another by Newton Wesley Gaines Three or four members of the board are also on the program.

GOTHAM READY FOR THE EVE

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—After all, when New Year's eve rolls around there is only one little old New York.

And so Broadway is preening itself today for one grand and glorious bust, with which 1925 will be welcomed

The theaters are putting up their prices and the cabarets are nailing down their tables Head waiters at Manhattan's restaurants and night clubs report an unprecedented demand for reservations.

Something of the prosperity is forecast by financiers for the year that will be born at midnight is reflected in New York's plans for the celebration And while Prohibition Commissioner Herrick announced that he has been assured of co-operation by hotel and cafe proprietors in seeing that the Volstead act is enforced, there is evidence that recent efforts of the storm tossed vessels and crews along the twelve-mile limit have borne fruit—chiefly of the grape variety

Theater ticket brokers reported the largest demand in recent years with the result that orchestra seats at musical shows tonight will cost $6 60 to $11 each One musical comedy will have a midnight performance, as will vaudeville and burlesque houses.

Cover charges at the principal night clubs are $10 a head, while all the hotels have arranged special New Year's eve suppers at prices extending from $2 50 to $12 50

CHICAGO, Dec 31.—Very wet and noisy is the forecast for Chicago's New Year's eve celebration

Hotels and cabarets report a record number of reservations ranging from $5 to $25 per plate

Dry enforcement officials announced they would guard against violation of the prohibition act Squads of federal agents, disguised in dress suits will tour the cabarets, but little fear is expressed as the entire enforcement division is little more than a postage stamp compared to the area to be covered

Vast quantities of assorted liquors have been pouring into the city during the past few months and tonight the celebrators will do the usual thing

URGES USING DAWES PLAN

Clemental Proposes Employing It in Funding.

COUNTRIES DIVERGE IN VIEWS

Matter Termed Tempest in a Teapot by Diplomats.

Calls at American Embassy to Explain to Ambassador Herrick Attitude of France on Debt Question.

PARIS, Dec. 31.—French Minister Clemental proposed today that the principles of the Dawes plan be applied in the finidng of French debt.

Clementel called personally at the American embassy today to explain to Ambassador Herrick, France's attitude towards the debt question. Afterwards he summoned British and American correspondents and reiterated his denial of any suggestion of Repudiation of her debts on the part of France.

"What I said in my financial statement regarding international was misinterpreted" Clementel protested.

The minister said he foresaw that the principles of the Dawes plan must be applied to France in connection with her debts but emphasized that France would not submit to controls such as the allies exercise over Germany.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—More diplomatic assurances from France that she means to pay her $4,000,000,000 debt to the United States, rather than a definite refunding agreement or payment, are expected to be the net result of a week's effort by administration spokesmen to get action from France.

While the conflict between the two governments is regarded in diplomatic circles here in the nature of a tempest in a teapot, the utter divergence of opinion in the two countries on the debt question and the mutual distrust which this engenders has caused serious apprehension.

An attempt by France to force reduction of the debts thru a pooling of inter-allied debts as suggested by Finance Minister Clemental is expected to increase hostile sentiment in this country. This attempt will be made at the opening of the Dawes plan financial conference in Paris on January 6 and at subsequent meetings with the tacit support of Great Britain, it is said.

This government os powerless to force France to recognize the full debt except possibly by the extreme measure of officially discouraging private loans and credits.

Introduction of a resolution in the senate expressing that body's opposition to further loans by American bankers to foreign nations who have not refunded their war time obligations to this country, was discussed in some quarters today.

Diplomatic measures were long ago exhausted and the recent negotiations with Ambassador Jusserand were as lacking in concrete results as similar negotiations during the last three years.

This government is ready to grant France a paper settlement in the form of a long term funding arrangement with a moratorium on capital and interest for several years. Since France, under such an arrangement would not have to pay a cent for a number of years, the administration cannot understand her unwillingness to accept such a solution.

Unofficially, important members of the debt funding commission go even further. They say if France cannot pay at the end of ten or twelve years or if it is then unwise for us because of economic and foreign trade considerations to insist on full payment, we can discuss debt reduction then.

Despite the conviction of certain administration leaders that the French debt will never be paid in full, they realize that opinion in congress and among the taxpayers is so hostile to reduction that such a solution is impossible at this time.

Popular opposition to reduction is based on the following reasoning:

1—Over $1,000,000,000 of the debt was incurred after the war, while France has been making military loans to her eastern European allies and maintaining a huge military establishment of her own.

2—While Great Britain and the United States have been taxing themselves heavily to pay for the war, taxes in France have been relatively low.

3—The the French government is under a financial strain and the French franc at a heavy discount, the economic resources of France are greater than those of other European countries and sufficient for payment of the debt.

4—Debt repudiation in any form is a bolshevist measure and disastrous in its effect upon future international credits.

5—Reduction in French debt means reduction of Great Britain's debts to us in the long run.

FAILED TO PROVE CASE

ODD LAWSUIT FROM WESTERN COUNTIES IN HIGH COURT.

Farmer Claimed Sheriff Had Reached Over County Line to Serve Him With Summons in a Case.

George Ault, Sioux county farmer, lost out in supreme court Wednseday on his claim that the sheriff of Scottsbluff county never served him in that county with a summons notifying him that he had been sued within its bailiwick, and, therefore, the judgment entered in the case will stand.

The odd feature of the case was that Ault said that he was in Sioux county and the sheriff in Scottsbluff county, and that the latter reached over the county line and served him. As he was in Sioux county at the time, he insists that the actual service was where he sat, in Sioux county, and not in Scottsbluff county, where the sheriff stood.

At the time he was hailed by the sheriff Ault was riding in a beet rack wagon down the highway, the center of which marks the dividing line between the two counties. There is but one traveled roadway, however, and altho Ault was sitting in the seat on the south side of his wagon, which was headed east, he says that he was altogether in Sioux county.

The court, however, does not decide whether such a service would be legal. It says that the sheriff made a return to the effect that he had served Ault within Scottsbluff county, and that as Ault failed to impeach this by clear and convincing evidence, the court will hold the return showed the fact. Besides which, it says, the preponderance of evidence is that Ault actually was in Scottsbluff county.

BARS WOMAN FROM WORK

COURT SAYS MRS. GOTCH PROPERLY ENJOINED.

Beauty Specialist Who Signed Contract Not to Work in Grand Island Must Stand by Her Agreement.

Mrs. Lulu Hutton Gotch, beauty specialist of Grand Island, is barred by a decree of the supreme court entered Wednesday from devoting her skill to the enhancement of the pulchritude of the ladies of that metropolis save as she does it in the parlors of Mrs. Sarah A. Dow.

Mrs. Gotch formerly worked for Mrs. Dow. Desiring to take what is known as the Marinello treatment from an expert in Chicago, she signed an agreement whereby, for the consideration of $100 as expenses, she would come back and work for Mrs. Dow for a year. The same contract bound her not to work for anyone in Grand Island at any time in the future.

Mrs. Gotch returned, but did not work the year out. She secured an offer in Cheyenne for more than the $35 a week she was receiving, and Mrs. Dow released her from her year's contract. Later on she returned to Grand Island and went into the employ of a rival beauty shop proprietor. Then came Mrs. Dow with an injunction suit. The lower court said that forever was too long a time, and after amending it so that it covered a five year bar only, allowed the injunction. Now comes the supreme court with an affirmation of the district court decree.

Judge Shepherd said that in the old days in England, when a judge had a contract of this sort presented him he was wont to declare if he had the employer before him he would send him to the king to be fined. But in those days few workers traveled beyond their immediate neighborhood, so that a contract of this kind was a real hardship. Times have changed. Trains and automobiles enable workers to go whither they will, and no real offense against public policy is committed when they sign such contracts.

The law in Nebraska, affecting these contracts, says the court, is that in order to be enforcible and valid a contract in restraint of trade, if unlimited as to time, must be limited as to space, and the conditions thereof must appear to be reasonable. Held that the contract in this case was fairly entered into and that the conditions are reasonable; hence tho limited as to space and unlimited as to time, is valid and enforcible.

The court says no real hardship is worked on Mrs. Gotch. She said that she had no consuming love for Grand Island. It is not the city of her youth. Nor did she live there during her married life. Her child is domiciled in Iowa. Nor did the city suffer. It has beauty shops aplenty. The judge adds that no fraud or duress was employed; that she was not forced by circumstances; that no importunity was made to her to sign; that she knew what she had signed, and that she had been about the world and knew what the effect of the contract was. Anyway it is intolerable that a person shall take money, sign an agreement and then seek to repudiate the contract without offering to return the money.

YOUNG BANKER TO PEN

Isadore Lucchesi of Des Moines Confesses to Embezzling $40,000.

DES MOINES, Dec. 31.—Isadore Lucchesi, former vice president of the United State bank here, today prepared for his incarceration in the state reformatory at Anamosa.

Called before District Judge Bonner late yesterday, the young Italian banker pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny by embezzlement. Judge Bonner sentenced him to an indeterminate term of not to exceed five years in the reformatory.

Lucchesi confessed to embezzling $40,000 from the bank. When it became evident several months ago that his "steal" would become known the young Italian absconded but was captured at Memphis, Tenn. He was brought back to Des Moines to stand trial. Until yesterday it was believed he would enter a plea for not guilty to the charge

WE REUNFAIR IN DIVISION

FARMERS TOO GENEROUS WITH MONEY OF OTHERS.

Supreme Court Says Railroad and County Were Discriminated Against in Levying Costs for a Ditch.

Farmers of Colfax county who organized the Platte valley drainage ditch near Schuyler were found by the supreme court Wednesday to have been too generous with the money of the Burlington railroad and the county when it came to dividing up the cost of the ditch and levying assessments for payment thereof.

The court says that the evidence showed that while the farmers' lands benefitted were worth $700,000 and the property of the railroad and of the county worth $240,000, the latter were saddled with 47 per cent of the expense. It finds that while the farm lands were taken on the basis of a fifth of their value in making up the units the property of the railroad and the county was based on the total value of the losses saved.

The court inclines to the opinion that the ditch really ought never to have been built. It says that while the board that had it in charge acted with the best intentions and upon the advice of an engineer, the testimony developed from experienced engineers shows that the danger against which it was sought to guard would probably never have existed, altho nothing certain could be said as to that. It would not, said the court, be the first time that the judgment of officials had resulted in loss to taxpayers.

At the point where the ditch was dug the Platte has the usual number of swales and sloughs. Beyond its bed is Leech creek. The intervening lands were being eroded, and it was feared that when this was completed the Platte would send a big volume of water down the creek, which does not empty it until a point two miles below is reached, with the result that the farm lands, the railroad trackage and the county roads would be swept out of existence. The engineers who testified for the appellants said that what had happened elsewhere would happen there, in such an event, that instead of digging out a new channel the remaining length of the creek the channel would fill up with silt and the waters be pushed back to where they belonged.

By order of the court the district judge is instructed to cut the assessment against the railroad from $3,500 to $700 and against the county from $4,905 to $987, as the ditch cost about $18,000 this will throw onto the farm land owners a total cost of $16,300, instead of the $9,554 they had been assessed.

DEATH IN A GAS BLAST

ROBERT G. COX VICTIM OF A CARBIDE EXPLOSION.

Mrs. Cox Badly Hurt and Their Farm Home Wrecked and Burned by Explosion of Lighting Plant.

Mrs. Robert G. Cox, seriously injured in the explosion of a carbide lighting plant at the Cox home, five miles west of Lincoln, Tuesday afternoon, was resting fairly comfortably at the Lincoln sanitarium Wednesday noon. Her condition was described as being "as well as could be expected." Both arms were badly fractured in the blast. Internal injuries may have been escaped.

Robert G. Cox was killed and his wife, Miranda Cox, was seriously injured, by the explosion of a carbide lighting plant in the basement of their farm home, five miles west of Lincoln, Tuesday afternoon. The house was wrecked by the explosion and the wreckage was burned. The charred body of Mr. Cox was taken from the basement of the home just as soon as the embers could be cooled, two hours alter. Mrs. Cox is at the Lincoln sanitarium in a serious condition.

The explosion happened at 3:45 p. m. Charles Vogel, a neighbor, who was near, found the house in ruins, Mrs. Cox standing in front of the house screaming for help and flames starting. Mr. Vogel is certain that a few buckets of water at that time would have put out the flames, but he cared for Mrs. Cox first.

Soon after Mr. Vogel's arrival another young man came and they wrapped Mrs. Cox in bed clothing and sent her to the Lincoln sanitarium in a car which happened along at the time. A call was sent to the Lincoln fire department and the department responded with a chemical engine. Two ambulances responded to the call.

Just prior to the explosion Mr. Cox had gone to the basement to fix the light plant. Mrs. Cox, at the moment of the explosion, was emptying a pan of dishwater at the door. What happened to her she has been unable to tell, altho when found she was standing up and screaming for help. One arm was broken, she sustained many bruises and hurts, but she was still conscious.

Vigilance of neighbors and passersby saved other buildings on the farm from the flames. In the explosions parts of the house were blown for 150 feet. The explosion wrecked the west and south portions of the building. It was a two story, nine room house, with a small cellar or basement room underneath in which the lighting plant was located.

Those who were early on the scene, saw the extent of the wreckage and estimated therefrom the force of the explosion, had no doubt that Mr. Cox died in the blast. His body was removed shortly after 5:30 p. m. just before dark. The early recovery was due to the use of the chemical wagon's hose and many buckets of water carried from the windmill and poured on the blazing debris directly over where the body was found.

Bed clothing was thrown into a nearby tree, a mattress was blown over this tree and deposited on the ground sixty feet from the house with the bed covers still on the mattress, the metal kitchen cabinet was crumpled into a compact mass and blown out of the house and pieces of timbers from the house were splintered and thrown far to the west and south.

While Mr. Cox lived on his own farm of 160 acres in the Middle creek valley he did not farm it. It had been rented for several years and he and Mrs. Cox contented themselves with raising a few chickens, caring for stock and gardening.

The acetylene plant had been idle for a day, according to Walter Smith, son-in-law to Mr. Cox. The aged farmer had attempted to procure a supply of carbide in Lincoln Monday but had failed. Tuesday the carbide arrived and Mr. Smith was of the opinion that Mr. Cox was filling the tank of the lighting plant when the explosion occurred.

Mrs. Cox, when questioned at the Lincoln sanitarium late Tuesday night, was unable to give a coherent account of the tragedy. She only knew that Mr. Cox had gone to the basement to work on the plant. Neither did she know whether the blast had thrown her from the house or she had walked to the rear entrance in a dazed condition. She complained of not being able to see well and thought that plaster had gotten into her eyes.

The house was 100 yards south of the O street overhead bridge of the Burlington railroad, about one mile east of Emerald, and five miles west of Lincoln.

Ten children survive Robert G. Cox, two of whom are step children and the offspring of Mrs. Cox by a former marriage. They are James, Chappell, Neb.; Ralph, Oregon; Frank, who lives on a farm three and a half miles west of Lincoln; Maude (Mrs. Gore), Lewiston, Mon; Lilly (Mrs. Walter Smith), who lives with her husband on a farm one-quarter mile east of the wrecked Cox home; Grace (Mrs. Lewis), who lives on an acreage near Lincoln, and Mabel (Mrs. Scheidt), McCook, Neb. The step children are Julia (Mrs. Wells) and Amy Tyre, 655 Canton avenue, Bethany. Miss Tyre is a teacher in the Bancroft school in Lincoln. Ray Cox, the youngest of thee hildren and his wife were in Omaha at the time of the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Cox were old residents of rural west Lincoln and were thought of as ideal neighbors by those who occupied farms adjoinging them. Mr. Cox had lived in this vicinity for more than forty years

Mr Cox was a cousin of Frank DuTeil and Miss Bertha DuTeil, their mothers having been sisters

ADIRONDACKS FULL OF BEARS

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y. (By mail)—Despite that, owing to the forest fire menace, hunters were kept out of the Adirondack forests for half the season, a record number of bears were killed in all sections of the mountains this year. It is probable that as a result of the large number killed within a fortnight of hunting the present law which protects Adirondack bears for eleven months in the year will be repealed and the former all year open season restored

MILLIONAIRE ORPHAN VICTIM OF TYPHOID

Billy McClintock Died of "Text Book Case of Fever," Doctors Say.

SHEPHERD ANNOUNCES FIND

Foster Father of Youth Presents His Evidence.

OFFICIALS HOLD CONFERENCE

Crowe, Olson and Coroner Wolff to Determine If Investigation Is to Be Dropped or Continued Further.

CHICAGO, Dec. 31.—Billy McClintock, "millionaire orphan," died from a "typical text book case of typhoid fever," according to a report made today by the two physicians who represented William D. Shepherd, foster-father of the youth, at the post mortem of the body. The doctors are Chester J. Fannerchen and R. J. Simonds of Northwestern university.

The report was made public by Shepherd while State's Attorney Crowe, Chief Justice Olson of the municipal court and Coroner Wolff held a secret conference. The conference probably will determine whether the investigation of the death is to be dropped or given to the grand jury.

So far Wolff has refused to divulge the results of the chemical analysis of the vital organs made by his own physicians. Wolff is trying to determine whether causes other than typhoid caused death.

Doctors Fannerchen and Simonds stated that McClintock died from typhoid fever, as announced by the attending physicians.

Under no circumstances could McClintock have died from an infection of typhoid germ cultures, according to the physicians' report, because of the difficulty in procuring such cultures. The report goes on to show that typhoid germs can be procured only from an accredited laboratory, a fact that would prevent a layman from obtaining them without credentials.

Certain red spots on McClintock's chest were caused by injections of salt solution to prevent internal hemorrhages, one of the symptoms of typhoid fever, the report stated.

William D. Shepherd, foster-father of McClintock, who denies there was anything wrong about the death, probably will be questioned again by Crowe today. Shepherd had already told his story of the death and of the manner in which the will, giving him and his wife the bulk of the fortune, was prepared.

Justice Olson, chief instigator of the investigation, is anxious to have the whole matter placed before the grand jury, it was stated.

MAYOR ON STREET NAMES

Declares That Abolishing of Letter System Would Aid the Fire Department.

After a conference Tuesday with telephone company officials on the subject of how to keep the public informed on what to do in case of fire, Mayor Zehrung has bobbed up with his old hobby of abolishment of letters for street names. The conference had to do in particular with the matter of keeping before the householder the fire department number.

The mayor contends that if streets were named and not lettered, there would be eliminated to a large extent confusion in matter of address. Certainly, he says, the department would get the true house number quicker. Some letters sound much alike. The mayor also contends that letters have neither meaning nor sentiment. Another suggestion he makes is for the eventual elimination of street jogs.

PARIS, Dec. 31.—The council of ambassadors agreed today upon the text of a collective note informing Germany that the Cologne area will not be evacuated January 10, as required by the treaty of Versailles.

A FUNCTION OF ITS OWN

SOCIAL AGENCY COUNCIL ON STRONG FOOTING.

Committees Named to Work Out Problems and Contemplated Program Released by the Community Chest.

The council of social agencies, clearing house of the community chest, is just finding itself and from now on will function on all cylinders, according to Louis Horne, executive secretary. The plan of creating committees to work out the various problems was suggested by J. W. Searson. Following is a list of the several departmental groups:

The executive committee: J. W. Searson, president; Judge Lincoln Frost, vice president; W. A. Selleck, treasurer; Eleanora T. Miller, recording secretary.

The board of directors: R. S. Brewster, W. A. Luke, Judge E. B. Chappell, E. R. Mockett, Martha Curtis, N. Z. Snell, Ernest C. Folsom, Mrs. Cora F. Warner, W. E. Hardy, Mrs. Max Westerman.

The finance committee: C. O. Bruce, chairman; W. A. Selleck, Miss Maud Berry.

The employment committee: E. C. Folsom, chairman; Charles E. McClain, Dr. C. E. Prevey, Judge Lincoln Frost.

The confidential exchange: Mrs. Sanford, chairman; William J. Kent, Miss Claire Toland, L. W. Horne, Mrs. A. L. Haecker.

The survey committee: O. J. Fee, chairman; M. C. Lefler, Mrs. Fred Eiche, W. A. Luke, Mrs. Eilleen Harrison, L. W. Horne.

The council membership committee: N. Z. Snell, chairman; Mrs. Max Westerman, R. S. Brewster, A. E. Wolf.

The case committee: Mrs. Cora Warner, chairman; Judge E. B. Chappell; Miss Caroline Forster, adviser; E. R. Mockett, Miss Martha Curtis, Dr. J. Stanley Welch.

The service committee: Miss Eleanora T. Miller, chairman; Miss Mary Maxwell, G. O. Rogers, James Kinsinger, Mrs. C. S. McGlasson; Adrian M. Newens, adviser.

The board has adopted and will attempt to carry out a contemplated program for the ensuing year. One of the important functions being the confidential exchange which will provide a medium thru all welfare agencies may cooperate with a minimum of duplication and with a maximum of efficiency. Other features of the program: Finding the facts thru comprehensive survey, survey from within, interpreting and using the facts.

PLEADS FOR THE PAPERS

Cole Says High Second Class Mail Rates Would Force Small Newspapers Out.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—Hundreds of the smaller newspapers would be forced out of business by the high second class mail rates in the Sterling postal bill, Representative Cole, Iowa republican, told the joint postal committee today.

"It is contrary to the policy of government to destroy these papers" Cole, who himself was formerly a publisher in Cedar Rapids, declared. "They are performing a great public service in the dissemination of news.

"A small increase might be made within the realm of justice, but it is certainly unfair to overburden them."

Cole said he favored increased salaries for postal clerks but believed that parcel post rates should bear the burden

TRY TO CUT BREAD COST

CAPPER MEASURE STIMULATES PROGRESSIVES.

Federal Trade Inquiry Undertaken as Result of Charges by LaFollette That Public Mulcted.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—Progressives in congress today moved to secure early action in their campaign to reduce the price of bread.

Stimulated by introduction of the Capper bill which would prohibit the sale of 12-ounce loaves for the same price as 16-ounce loaves the progressive group planned to press the federal trade commission for early conclusion of the "bread investigation" authorized months ago.

The federal trade inquiry was undertaken as a result of the charges of Senator LaFollette that the public was paying $100,000,000 more than necessary each year for bread on account of the activities of a "bread trust."

The bill introduced by Senator Capper, Kansas, republicans, was brought before the senate agriculture committee today where Chairman Norris promised its early consideration.

The bill may be reported out at this session, Norris believes, altho it now seems difficult for any action to be obtained on it on the floor of the senate.

Capper contends that the public thru weight misrepresentations is losing $300,000 a day or $100,000,000 a year.

"It is not to be wondered that manufacturing millers, farmers, small bakers and indeed the consumer should view with concern such a potential centralized control of the manufacture and marketing of so great an item in the nation's essential food as that involved in these combinations in the baking industry," Capper said.

"There can be no doubt that short weight selling as now practiced by the big fellows is decidedly unfair competition against the small independent who sells his full 16-ounce loaves for the same price the big fellow sells his short 12-ounce loaves."

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Speech Habits.

There is nothing so unusual as to have mothers tell one how beautifully the baby of less than a year speaks. She tells with pride all the words that he can say, and she is as sure, as I am dubious, that he has a perfect idea of what he is saying. I hate to shatter such implicit faith, but the young human of no matter what country begins by having the ability to make certain noises. By attaching importance to certain noises and unimportance to others, by hearing a repetition of certain sounds and none of others, he gradually begins to make a conscious selection from among them and soon we say he is speaking. This doesn't happen as early as some parents thinks.

Thus, all children can say Ma, da and ga very early. These are purely random uses of the vocal cords and he is not trying to imitate you, he is merely exercising those muscles which operate the vocal cords and the results please his ear.

When he says Ma-ma-ma several times and some one picks him up, and cooes over him, and says "just listen to the little darling say, 'Ma-ma,'" naturally this sound begins to have a pleasureable connection. By constantly hearing it and also receiving the sweet reward of kisses and petting, when he does say it, results at last in associating this word in his mind with this result, and finally with the person to which it seems connected. If the child were a French child this sound would soon have to be altered to suit "Maman"—if he were German, "Mutter," but the initial "Ma" sound would be alike with all these babies.

It is the same with all other objects. A child learns by the success with which random noises bring pleasurable results, to try and repeat these noises. Soon he has a vocabulary of words which have meaning to adults and bring proper results.

It has been discovered by experiments that the child of one year is possessed of nine words, which have adult meanings. His vocabulary grows rapidly in the next year, tho and at four years the average child will have a vocabulary of 2,000 words (Watson.)

SNOW AND COLDER IS THE FORECAST

Cold Wave Predicted for Tuesday Night Late in Arriving But Weather Bureau Says It Is Coming.

Altho the cold wave reported to have been sweeping southward toward Nebraska and Lincoln and which was scheduled to reach here Tuesday night failed to arrive the weather bureau insists that it will be here by Wednesday night. The storm has swept across the Dakotas and Montana and by Wednesday morning had reached the northern portion of Nebraska where snow was reported to be falling.

The storm was accompanied by sharply lower temperatures and in places light winds. At St. Paul, Minn., the mercury had dropped to 12 below, at Rapid City, S. D., 4 below, Valentine, Neb., 4 below, and farther south in the region of North Platte 4 above zero was reported.

At Bismarck, S. D., the temperature had dropped Tuesday evening to 2 below zero and later reports indicated that it had gone much lower.

According to the weather bureau the temperature will probably be around 5 above zero in Lincoln Wednesday night. Light snow will probably reach here before evening the report indicates.

GIVES NUMBER OF ARRESTS

Says 967 People Taken for Violation of Prohibition Act During Past Year.

Robert P. Samardick, chief of the prohibition field forces for the state of Nebraska in a report to E. E. Thomas, federal prohibition director, states that 967 persons were arrested during 1924 on charges of violating the prohibition amendment. Of these, 228 were disposed of in state courts while 394 were dealt with in federal courts. Charges are still pending against 345 of the violators in federal courts.

The total amount of fines assessed was $151,525 according to the report, and the total number of years' imprisonment imposed was 92 years, 6 months. Thirty-seven automobiles were confiscated.

Clears Complexion

"Oh! how clear and beautiful your complexion is today, my dear!"

THERE IS a certain joy—a certain pride—in knowing you are admired, whether it be from father, brother, husband or sweetheart! And back of that joy is the satisfaction of knowing all is well.

Men are fascinated by the charms of beauty. Women gaze with envy, secretly jealous, perhaps, wondering—hoping—praying for that attractiveness which is not theirs. But why the wondering—the hoping—the praying for that craved for attractiveness—that clear skin—that beauty. A clear skin—is the barometer of one's condition. A healthy skin radiates beauty. Pure, clean blood means a clear skin.

S.S.S. is waiting to help you. It will rid your blood of its impurities and give you that clear complexion. Since 1826 S.S.S. has been ridding people of blood impurities, from pimples, from blackheads, boils, eczema and from rheumatism, too. Because S.S.S. is made from fresh herbs and barks, it may be taken with perfect safety. Try it yourself. You will not only look better, but you will feel better, too.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Are You Fat? Just Try This

Thousands of overfat people have become slender by following the advice of doctors who recommend Marmola Prescription Tablets. These little fat reducers are made from the same formula as the famous Marmola Prescription. If too fat, don't wait to go to your druggist now and for one dollar, the same price the world over, procure a box of these tablets. If you prefer you may secure them direct by sending price to the Marmola Co., General Motors Bldg., Detroit, Mich. They reduce steadily and easily. No need for tiresome exercise or starvation diet and no unpleasant effects.—Adv.

Store Closed All Day Thursday, to Reopen Friday With Gold's Greater-Than-Ever

JANUARY CLEARANCE SALE!

MOST OF OUR STOCKS REDUCED 10% TO 50%

A greater Gold's, with far greater and more varied stocks, brings to you this greatest-of-all Gold January Clearance Sales, beginning when doors swing wide at 8:30 a. m. Friday.

Practically every department in the Store contributes their stocks to make this sale far surpass, from every standpoint even our own previous semi-annual clearances!

So to list, in one advertisement, all the sale items is impossible--but up and down every aisle, through every section and on nearly every floor, there is VALUE, VALUE, VALUE!

The offerings noted here therefore just hint at the hundreds and hundreds of savings in store for you—when the doors open Friday.

Most of the stocks in the Store are REDUCED 10% TO 50%. A few contract lines and new departments, where introductory prices are already so low that further reduction at this time is impossible, are excepted from the general discounts, which include EVERYTHING else in the entire store.

This means substantial REDUCTIONS on thousands of items of staple and seasonable merchandise to reduce stocks—CLEARANCES extraordinary on great stocks of fine ready-to-wear apparel, accessories, yard goods and hundreds of other needs—and at prices which provide the rarest savings opportunities of the whole years.

Out of town folk should plan to come to Lincoln--Friday or Saturday.

Your Problems

BY MARY GORDON

Dear Mary Gordon: A few lines to Second Husband. When he was courting this widow, I wonder if she didn't take him home before he married her, and see those pictures in the living room. And I wonder if he didn't ask her who that good looking man was and I wonder if she didn't or did tell him the same thing as she does to the strangers. It was too bad that he couldn't see such things at that time, he cannot bear to see that man's picture on the wall, but he likes the beautiful home that her first husband helped to provide for her, and share it with her. If the home is hers I think she has a perfect right to have her first husband's picture on the wall or hang it where she chooses.

I married a widower, and the home was his, but I never once objected to his first wife's picture hanging in the living room, or in the home anywhere. Friends and strangers have asked me who that lady is. I just tell them that is my husband's first wife. Indeed it does not humiliate me. I am not ashamed of what I have done. I helped my husband in every way I could to make life a success, and tried to do as good as his first wife did, and I know I pleased him. Anyhow I have heard him say that he had gotten two good women. Now all second husband has to do is to please his wife and she will boost him as well as he does her first husband.

If he cannot do this my advice to him is for him to walk out and stay out.—Second Wife.

A. It is lovely to have a disposition so free from jealousy that one does not mind having the first spouse's picture in the living room. But I fear few of us can boast it. I still believe that when a second husband or wife is installed in the home, the mementoes of the first should be relegated to a less public place.

Dear Mary Gordon: I think this world has gone to the dogs. The way boys treat girls is perfectly terrible. I went with a boy all fall and thought lots of him, and in fact, more than lots. But lately he has just completely dropped me, I suppose it is my fault because I didn't treat him nice all the time, but he is just wonderful. I think it is a mean trick. He could have at least told me or picked a fight, couldn't he?

My Christmas is ruined.

I don't think I shall ever go with another boy, but will devote the rest of my life to God's kingdom.

I think men are terrible, low down, crazy and everything else. They want to be loved, kissed, etc., but then drop a girl flatter than a pancake. What do you think about it? Tell me what I should do to this boy, please tell me? I am suffering intoxicatedly.—Purple E.

A. Don't you feel better by this time?

What shall you do to this boy? Why, what is there you can do? Ignore him as he ignores you, of course. Speak to him when necessary. Forget about him. Console yourself with the thought that there are other and better men in the world.

And even if your Christmas was ruined, the new year won't be, if you refuse to let it. Remember the old adage about "keeping a stiff upper lip?"

Dear Mary Gordon: I am in my teens and have been going with a young man who I think very much of and he also told me that he thought lots of me. I have a girl friend who is trying to break our friendship. I don't like to say anything to her because I don't want her mad at me. Please advise me.—Peggy.

A. About all you can do is to ignore her efforts as much as you can. You might slip a gentle hint to the young man, too.

Mrs. W. C. B.: Glad you secured the book you wanted. Thank you for the good wishes.

Household Suggestions.

Use turpentine on a sponge to remove spots from oiled floors.

Grease may be removed from kid or leather shoes by sponging with gasoline.

To clean pewter, use only the finest of abrasives in order to avoid scratching.

When you buy fish select those firm in flesh with stiff fins, bright scales and red gills.

You can keep yolks of eggs fresh by keeping in the refrigertor in a cup, covered with cold water.

If you are putting away paint brushes for an indefinite period, moisten them with paraffin oil.

Boiled potatoes will never look dark if you add a little milk to the water in which they are cooked.

Vegetables in storage for winter should be carefully guarded from sudden changes in temperatures.

You will need more electric lights in a room with dark walls than with light ones. Remember this when you select paper.

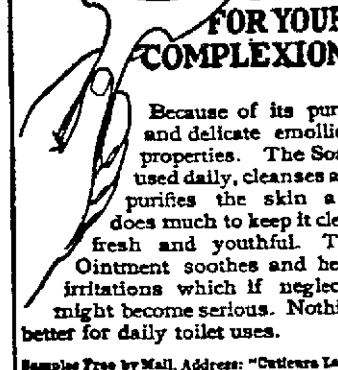

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Advertisement.

Greatly Troubled With Itchy Pimples Cuticura Healed

"I was greatly troubled with pimples breaking out on my face, arms, neck and shoulders. The pimples festered and scaled over, and my clothing irritated the breaking out on my arms and shoulders. They itched and burned and my face looked so badly that I had to stay at home because of the unsightly eruptions.

"I tried several remedies without success. A friend advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I purchased some, and after using one box of Cuticura Ointment and two cakes of Cuticura Soap I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Gladys Neilson, Patoka, Illinois.

Cuticura Soap daily, with Cuticura Ointment occasionally, prevents pimples or other eruptions. They are pleasing to use, as is also Cuticura Talcum, an excellent deodorant.

Samples Free by Mail. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. H, Malden 48, Mass." Sold everywhere. Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Try our new Shaving Stick.

Rockne's Famous Gridsters Ready For Stanford

GREAT ENTHUSIASM OVER COAST CLASH

Notre Dame and Stanford Battle Arouses Unusual Interest in California—Heat May Slow up Horsemen.

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 31.—With Coach Knute Rockne's famed Notre Dame football team here after a seventeen-day journey from Indiana, interest in the New Year's game, the Irish versus Stanford, soared today to a degree of enthusiasm never before reached for a rose tournament contest.

Special trains from Chicago bearing hundreds of Notre Dame rooters added to the pre-game atmosphere of bustling expectancy.

A workout for the Irish was scheduled for this afternoon.

Coach Glenn Warnerr's team of Stanford warriors yesterday finished last preparations fo rthe game.

Particular attention was given in instructing ends and tackles in fast charges. The cards hope to break into the "four horsemen" combination before they get fully started on their end runs.

It is believed Rochne will start his second team tomorrow. The falling off in weight which his men are said to have experienced and the enerverating heat that can suddenly develop here may headicap his team. He is expected to make frequent substitutions, relying on Stuhldreher, Crowley, Miller and Lalden to check the opposition at the opportune moment.

CLEANEST PLAYER I EVER PLAYED AGAINST

ED WEIR, Star Husker Tackle.

That is the tribute that "Red" Harold Grange of the University of Illinois, greatest halfback of all time paid to Ed Weir, All-American tackle, in congratulatory message to him at banquet at Superior, Neb., in his honor. Few football players have ever received more honors than Ed Weir and one of the greatest is that he "plays the game clean."

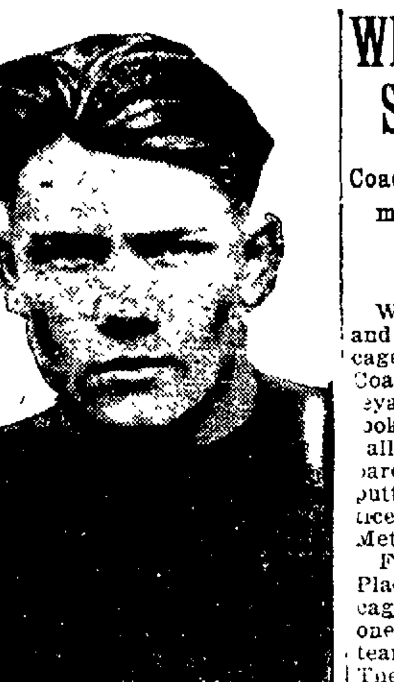

"RED" GRANGE PAYS TRIBUTE TO WEIR

"Cleanest Man I Ever Played Against," Says Illinois Halfback Congratulating Husker Tackle.

SUPERIOR, Neb., Dec. 31.—"Ed Weir is the cleanest football player I have ever had the pleasure of playing against," was a wire of congratulation sent by "Red" Grange, Illinois flash, to Weir who was given a banquet here Tuesday night. It was an all-Superior banquet to an all-American tackle, and to Joe Weir and Ted Smith Cornhuckers.

The dinner was served in the Junior high auditorium. Plates were laid for two hundred and fifty. Tables formed the letter N and the decorations were in the varsity colors. A notable feature of the program was the reading of the telegram of congratulations from Red Grange.

As an appreciation of the good work done by the Cornhusker tackle he was presented with a fine watch properly engraved, with chain and fob. Gold football fobs and belt sets were presented the other boys.

JOE WEIR.

GOLFING REQUIRES A STEADY NERVE

Must Train Differently Than Men in Other Lines of Athletics, Cyril Walker, Champion, Declares.

(Copyright, 1924, in U. S., Canada and Great Britain by North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved.)

This is the fourth of a series of articles in which Cyril Walker tells how he fought his way to golf supremacy against handicaps which would have beaten most of us.

By Cyril Walker
(1924 American Open Golf Champion)

Training for a national open tournament is decidedly different from preparation for any other sporting event.

The prize fighter, wrestler, baseball player, football player or track athlete, for instance, must pay a great deal of attention to superfluous weight, to wind, to speed, etc. Golf being a deliberate sport, speed scarcely enters into it. One's lungs only need to be normal. It is better to have some weight to lose than otherwise.

Stamina is necessary, but the sort of stamina that is required is obtained thru the ordinary everyday activities of the professional golfer. The one great necessity is to have the nervous system properly attuned. Going thru the preliminary and regular rounds of play, necessitating from three to five days according to the number of entries, becomes a grind which only a normal nervous condition can endure. And it is essential not only that one perform properly in a mechanical way, but that one think properly. One little mental error will undo days of mechanical perfection.

After the 1924 spring tournament at the Rockaway Hunt club, where I had noted an improvement in my game—an improvement which Walter Hagen also saw—I tried myself out repeatedly over my own course at Englewood and over neighboring courses. I was increasingly conscious of a new tone in my playing which I had not noticed before.

Rid of my old distress and worries, I was acquiring an efficiency I never had possessed. The ambitions and hopes of my more youthful days revived in me in full force.

Obviously a man of my build could not train for the 1924 open tournament at Detroit as would Hagen, or Kirkwood, or other men of that type, who are husky and strong. As a matter of fact, I did not start serious preparations until two weeks before I was due to depart for Detroit.

I took extreme care not to lose any weight. Also I cultivated mental serenity.

How To Get Serenity

The sort of golf I was shooting aided the latter process. Round after round I played in 68 or 69. One day I established a new course record of 65. Par at Englewood is 71.

During the two weeks of systematic practice, I played only four or five times a week, doing but one round at a time. Oswald Kirkby, former Metropolitan Amateur champion, a member of our club, was my partner. He was a daily witness of the accuracy with which I was using all my clubs. At the end of our last round he told me: "Cyril, if you can keep your game and your putting touch you'll come darn near winning at Detroit."

I left for Detroit in time to have three days of practice before the tournament began. I desired to arrive there so as to get in some good hard finishing training, but not enough to leave me stale. Also I wished to become well acquainted with the course. Obviously this is highly important.

The Oakland Hills course I found to be one of the most treacherous I ever played. The greens were particularly difficult. They were overdone, I should say, in the matter of unduations. On many of them, too, the grass appeared to be water-killed in spots, leaving a very slippery condition. If you placed your ball on the top side and left yourself with a downhill putt you found it almost impossible to control its length.

I made it an invariable practice to play short of the flag on every green. This left me with chip shots or putts uphill which I could control.

The fairways were fast, too, and, because of high winds it was often essential to hold down the length of one's shots. I soon discovered that in many cases it was better to use a brassie or a spoon off the tees. For instance, at the dogleg sixteenth hole, altho the water hazard was 275 yards from the tee, there was danger of getting into it if one used a driver. On this hole I always employed a lofted brassie from the tee. It was my play on the sixteenth which finally won me the title.

Another example. Altho the twelfth hole measured 575 yards, it was possible to get on the green with a driver and an iron shot. But to try for the green on your second was a very dangerous procedure. The approach was narrow and guarded with deep pits on both sides. I didn't want to get into those pits and I didn't. I used three strokes to get to the green, content to obtain a par five. The result was that I never ran up any sixes or sevens.

An Innovation in Training.

As to my training: In this I used an innovation. Instead of stopping at the same hotel with all the other fellows as I hitherto had done, I went to another. When not practicing, I wanted my mind off the game. Pat Doyle, one of the most cheerful persons who ever lived, did the same. We were together all the time and we forgot golf as much as possible. Incidentally we got plenty of good sound sleep.

I increased my practice rounds to two a day. The first morning I was merely feeling myself out, but that afternoon, tightening up, I shot a 73. The next day I rolled off a 72 in the morning and a 73 in the afternoon.

"Boy, this is great," I told myself and I decided I would play no more before the tournament began. But the following morning found me feling so keen I just couldn't stay idle. I went out for one more round

I ended it gripped in anxiety. My iron clubs had suddenly left me and I took a 79 for the eighteen holes!

There was only one thing to do. I stationed myself at the practice place and began a strenuous effort to regain my control over those irons.

The locker rooms overlooked the spot. Thru the windows the other players, preparing to go to the city, called to me. "Come on, haven't you had enough?"

"I'm coming in when I feel satisfied I'm hitting these clubs right," I replied, and stuck to my task.

It was night when I ceased. But by that time I had regained my mastery of the irons and my confidence had returned.

Tomorrow: You're Going to Win

COTNER CAGESTERS ARE LOOKING GOOD

Coach Parminter Has Eight Veterans Back in Suits and the Bulldogs Should Play Some Fast Games.

The Cotner Bulldog cage quintet opens the 1925 basketball season on January 7, when it will clash with the State Aggies on the Bethany floor in a non-conference game. Coach Earl Parminter has eight veterans to build his 1925 cage machine around and according to early season indications, the Bulldog mentor will have a team which will cause considerable trouble to all conference opponents.

Of the five letter men in basketball in 1924, four have returned and are bidding for places on the Cotner quint this year. R. Borgaard, lanky pivot man of the 1924 quintet is in school, but will be unable to compete in basketball this season. His absence from the center position will be keenly felt, as he was a stellar performer for the Bulldogs in 1924. Coach Parminter is grooming Jull, last year substitute center, and Maues, a new man of considerable ability, at the pivot post.

Captain-elect Stearns and W. Borgaard, who worked so effectively at the guard positions last year, will be back at their old posts. Clark and Manning, veteran forwards, are expected to have little trouble in holding their places. Kennedy, Shuman and Lessley, performers on the 1924 Bulldog cage crew, have reported for practice. Baron and Wisner are outstanding among the new men who are working for berths on the Bethany five.

With nineteen games scheduled the Bulldogs are facing the toughest program attempted by a Bethany five in many years. Coach Perminter has some open dates which he would like to fill for his second team.

The Cotner schedule is as follows:

Jan. 7—State Aggies at Cotner.
Jan. 14—Wayne at Cotner.
Jan. 16—Peru at Peru.
Jan. 21—Grand Island at Cotner.
Jan. 23—Doane at Cotner.
Jan. 28—Midland at Fremont.
Jan. 29—Wayne at Wayne.
Feb. 3—Midland at Cotner.
Feb. 5—Peru at Cotner.
Feb. 10—Doane at Crete.
Feb. 12—Hastings at Cotner.
Feb. 18—Kearney at Cotner.
Feb. 20—Wesleyan at Uni. Place.
Feb. 24—Grand Island at Grand Island
Feb. 25—York at York.
Feb. 27—Kearney at eKarney.
Feb. 28—Hastings at Hastings.
March 4—York at Cotner.

Efforts to Organize Baseball at Chadron

CHADRON, Neb., Dec. 30.—Steps are being taken here to organize a baseball league of northwest Nebraska towns. Pete Wilson, who managed the Chadron team last year, is one of the prime movers in the attempt. He hopes to develop a league with teams from Alliance, Hot Springs, Custer, Crawford, Hay Springs, Rushville, Gordon and Chadron in it.

Baseball did well in this section in 1924 and the baseball men want to take advantage of the present upward trend in the sport to get a league underway. The meeting of representatives of the various towns will be held the third week in January. Chadron expects to have one of the best teams it has ever had.

BOXING EXHIBIT AT THE Y

Adolph Gebhart, Instructor, to Put Some of His Class Thru Some Bouts.

The program of the annual open house at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday evening will open at 7:30 o'clock with an event planned by the boxing class, led by Adolph Gebhart, instructor. The class will demonstrate mass work and a special drill in the use of the medicine ball for class work in teaching boxing.

Advanced pupils of Mr. Gebhart will engage in special bouts. At 8 p. m. Charley Wright will give several exhibition bouts with members of his wrestling class. The following men will engage in these bouts:

[illegible]

[illegible] a matched basketball game will be played between [illegible] the last year's champion team of the Association league.

Vogel to Coach Iowa.

IOWA CITY, Ia., Dec. 30.—Otto H. Vogel, centerfielder for the Chicago Cubs and former University of Illinois star, will become head baseball coach of the University of Iowa on January 1, it was announced by the department of athletics today.

James J. Davis, secretary of labor, returned from South America, and denied he intended shortly to resign from the cabinet.

WESLEYAN CAGERS SHOWING UP WELL

Coach Dow of the Coyotes Optimistic as to the Outlook for the Squad of Methodist University.

With seven letter men in suit, and a number of promising new cagesters reporting for practice, Coach C. L. Dow of Nebraska Wesleyan is optimistic over the outlook for the 1925 Coyote basketball team. With the first game barely a week away, Coach Dow is putting his men thru a stiff practice session every evening in the Methodist gymnasium.

Francis Alabaster of University Place is captain of the Methodist cage team. Alabaster, who was one of the mainstays of the 1924 team, plays the guard position. The other veteran performers on the Coyote squad are: Jesse and Harold Boell of University Place, guards; ex-captain Ralph Hurlburt, who plays either center or forward; and Elvin Gembler, G. Yetter and John Calvert, forwards.

Among the squad of twenty basket tossers reporting daily for practice are several new men of promise. Paul Steyles, center and forward, is showing up well in the early workouts. William Gentry, who also plays either the center or forward position, is making a strong bid for a regular berth. D. F. Harrington, Oscar Wilberg, Dononvan Dinnis, and Theo Radinsky, are among the new men on the squad who look good to the Coyote mentor.

Working on Fundamentals.

Coach Dow is devoting the early practices largely to a drill on the fundamentals of the court game. Basket shooting and teamwork are being stressed. Dow also has his men perfecting a number of plays with a scrimmage session during the latter part of each practice.

In 1924, the Wesleyan basketball team, coached by Glen Preston, Coyote football coach, won approximately one-half of its game. This is Dow's first year as coach of the Methodist quintet. He formerly coached the Fremont and later the University Place high school teams and was responsible for the excellent showing that these squads made in the state tourney.

The complete roster of the Wesleyan basketball squad is as follows: Captain Francis Alabaster, Harold Boell, Jesse Boell, John Calvert, Norris Chadderdon, Donovan Dinnis, Ehme Fruhling, William Fry, Elvin Gembler, William Gentry, D. F. Harrington, Ralph Hurlburt, Ed Loder, Glenn Moon, Howard Paul, Theo Radinsky, Max Roper, Paul Steeves, Oscar Wiberg and G. Yetter.

A stiff schedule of approximately twenty games is planned by Coach Dow. The schedule as completed is as follows:

Jan. 8—South Dakota State at Brookings.
Jan. 9—Morningside College at Morningside.
Jan. 10—South Dakota university at Vermillion.
Jan. 17—York at Wesleyan.
Jan. 23—North Dakota State there.
Jan. 24—North Dakota university there.
Jan. 30—Des Moines University at Wesleyan.
Jan. 31—Doane at Wesleyan.
Feb. 6—Chadron at Wesleyan.
Feb. 7—South Dakota university at Wesleyan.
Feb. 10—North Dakota State at Wesleyan.
Feb. 13—Midland at Wesleyan.
Feb. 14—Morningside at Wesleyan.
Feb. 17—Doane at Crete.
Feb. 20—Cotner at Wesleyan.
Feb. 27—Peru at Wesleyan.

Coach Dow expects to schedule a game with either St. Thomas or McAllister on January 22 or 26. He probably will schedule a second contest with Cotner, Midland and Peru.

In the Basket.

Chicago—University of Chicago basketeers fell before the Navy last night 29 to 21, but the Maroons showed a greatly improved team. Craig was the middies' star, and Barnes for the Maroons.

South Bend—Notre Dame won its second basket ball game from Northwestern here last night 36 to 15. Ralph Baker, football star, failed to score a point for the Purple.

Indianapolis—Butler nipped the University of Illinois quintet here last night in a close game 24 to 22. It was a tight battle from start to finish.

Fights and Fighters.

St. Paul—Tom Gibbons has received an offer to fight Luis Angel Firpo in London, he announced last night. The National Sporting club wants the bout and has offered a guarantee of 20,000 pounds sterling, the winner to take 60 per cent and the loser 40 per cent.

Sport Tabloids.

Milwaukee—Oregon Aggies will not play Marquette here Thanksgiving day 1925, as originally scheduled. A Pacific coast conference conflict compelled the Aggies to cancel the date.

Chicago—Bill Killefer, manager of the Cubs arrived here yesterday and went into conference with Jack Hendricks, manager of the Cincinnati Reds. Trades were talked over but no deals made.

Ann Arbor, Mich.—An offer of $400,000 for Walter Johnson to use under certain conditions, to buy the Oakland club in the Pacific coast league, has been made here. Whose money it is, was not stated.

London—The National Sporting club today confirmed reports it is endeavoring to arrange a match between Luis Angel Firpo and Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul. Details will be announced after the club officials confer with Firpo, who is expected here from Paris in a few days.

Cincinnati—Gary Herrmann, president of the Reds, said his club has been dickering with the Phillies on a trade involving Jimmy Caveney but that Cy Williams never has been mentioned. He said a trade with Boston involving Lew Fonseca is pending.

NEW YEAR GREETINGS

THE Holiday Season gives us the opportunity to disprove the old saying, "There is no sentiment in business."

To the contrary we are glad to extend the Season's Greetings to those of our friends and customers with whom we have come in contact during the year and to take this means of reaching out to those whom we hope some day to have the opportunity of meeting.

To all, therefore, in equal measure we wish a Prosperous and Happy New Year.

HOW LITTLE PEGGY BEGAN THE NEW YEAR.

WHEN the day before New Year rolled around, Peggy was just as cross as she could be, and Squeedee himself, the wee elfin from Joyland, had to put his fingers over his lips to keep from laughing at the funny expression on her face.

"My goodness, Peggy!" he said, patting her curly head, "better get those frowns and cross looks off your face before to-morrow or they'll stay there all year long."

"Well, I guess if all your little friends were going to a New Year's Eve party and you couldn't go, you'd feel bad, too," and tears of disappointment rolled down her cheeks. "They'll all have a good time and I won't."

"Pshaw!" laughed Squeedee, sitting on the floor beside Peggy in front of the fire place, "what good will that do them? To be sure, they will usher in the New Year with fun and frolic, but I'll tell you a way to bring in the New Year that will be nicer than that."

Peggy wiped her tears away and smoothed out her little white apron.

"And will I have fun doing it?" she asked, her face all smiles again.

"Sure you will, and I'll help you," agreed Squeedee. "Now, get a paper and pencil."

Peggy ran for a paper and pencil.

"At the Stroke of Twelve"

First of all, write down the things on this paper that you don't like to do, like sweeping, dusting and washing dishes."

Peggy did as Squeedee told her and, by the time she had finished, the paper was just filled with little every-day things Peggy hated to do. Squeedee laughed as she handed it to him to read.

"Now, just at the stroke of twelve to-night, throw this paper into the fire place, and stand there and watch it burn, and as the flames die down, you'll find you will be a changed girl."

Squeedee waved his magic whistle over Peggy's curly head three times. "All the time the paper is burning, keep saying to yourself, 'I shall change and love the things I always disliked before. I shall love to wash dishes, sweep and dust for those who love me.' Then crawl into bed and see what happens.

"You see, in the olden times on New Year's Day folks would jump over fire to burn up the evil spirits that had clung to them during the old year. So why can't you burn up the things that make you unhappy?" Before Peggy could ask any more questions, Squeedee had disappeared.

That night on the stroke of twelve, Peggy slipped out of bed and tossed the folded paper into the fire, and you can believe it or not, New Year's day when she awakened it was with a great longing to help someone.

She spent all New Year's day helping her Mama, and when she lay down in bed that night she was the happiest little girl in all the world. For after all, the surest way to be happy is by helping those around us.

Revelations of a Wife

A Possible Marriage Worries Marion Greatly.

IF there be anything more naively sweet than the serious concern of a young girl about the affairs of her elders, I do not know what it is.

Marion's eyes, beautiful, long-lashed, were almost wistful, tearful, as they met mine, and I made the mental comment that the old-fashioned writers of the Victorian era were not so far wrong when they compared eyes like this winsome child's to "pansies drenched in dew."

I put her in a low chair beside the fire and drew another up opposite to her. I did not cuddle her as I ordinarily would have done, for instinctively I felt that in her attitude toward her mother's problem, at least, it was not a little girl who faced me, but a woman, immature, groping, but sincere and I meant to offer her the courtesy of "grown-up" treatment.

"I'm afraid my advice won't be worth much, dear," I said, "especially about Uncle Robert Savarin, but I'll do the best I can. What is it that troubles you especially?"

She hesitated, looking at the rug pattern in an attitude that reminded me irresistibly of her mother.

"I don't know just how to tell you, Auntie Madge. It goes away back to the time when I was a wee bit of a girl and didn't have my mother. You know."

A Tragic Recollection.

Did I know? Ah! I looked at her with eyes that suddenly saw something far beyond the room in which we were sitting. I saw her mother and myself facing each other in the wonderful brown-toned library of Lillian Underwood's New York apartment, and heard Lillian's voice, raucous yet wonderfully controlled, revealing the tragedy of her life with Marion's father, Tom Morton.

Because she had been too high-minded to drag an innocent boy, Dicky, into the trap set for him by the unspeakable cad who called her wife, she had taken the alternative given her by Tom Morton, and given the custody of her idolized child to him.

I could see Lillian crossing the room to a wall safe, and taking from it the miniature of an exquisite little creature, Marion in babyhood, and with my contemplation of the agony that was hers in being shut away from her little daughter, I had surrendered every bit of prejudice against Lillian, acknowledging that not even to keep faith and honor clear, could I have made a similar sacrifice.

Witness of her long immolation away from the child, it was also my privilege to be present at the wonderful reunion which Tom Morton's death, and his belated confession of his treachery, brought to the mother heart so long bereft. And almost all of the time since that day, I had been able to watch with Lillian over the child who by the kindly intervention of Fate appeared to be all her mother's, a duplicate in miniature of keen brain, beautiful soul, lovely face and body, with no trace of her treacherous father in her.

With a start I brought myself back to the wide-eyed girl facing me.

"Forgive me, Marion," I said contritely. "You took me back years. Remember, I knew your mother when she did not have you."

"Then you know how she suffered," she said quickly, "but I don't believe anybody can ever know how bad I used to feel as a little tot without any mother. I used to cry and cry. I've been thinking a lot about that old time this month. I suppose it's because she's never been gone so long before that it brings back that old lonely time. And I've been thinking—you know how when I was smaller I used to love Uncle Robert Savarin so, and want Mother to marry him, so I'd have a really truly father like other girls?"

"Yes, Marion," I answered softly, because she paused for an answer, but afraid to disturb the current of thought which was bearing her along.

"I Shall Be Going."

"Well, I don't know! I wonder if I'm terribly selfish. Sometimes I think it would be lovelier just our two selves. And something tells me inside here"—she put her hand to her heart—"that Mother feels that way, too. But of course I may be mistaken. Another thing, I shall be going away to school pretty soon. Mother can't have me tutored forever, you know, so as to keep me with her, and then she'll be all alone.

"If I were absolutely sure she'd be happier with Uncle Robert than she is now, I wouldn't care about myself," the sweet troubled voice went on, "but sometimes, especially this last year, and since Uncle Robert has been in Europe, I've been wondering. What do you think, Auntie Madge? Do you think she'd be happier married to him?"

THE DAWN OF A NEW YEAR

WHAT a wonderful day—New Year! What hopes and joys it brings to some, and to others, regret and sorrow. When one who has lived awhile contemplates the dawn of the New Year, she dreads the added days to her years, while to Her who is just beginning to live and learn, it cannot come quickly enough and unfold the story which she is so eager to hear. What may it not bring? The fulfillment of her dreams, and who knows, perhaps it will bring the Love which she is so eagerly awaiting, and the happiness which shall see many, many Happy New Year's days with the chosen one by her side.

YOUR HEALTH

Resolve to Make New Year Add to Your Life Span

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

DR. COPELAND

TO-MORROW you will make yourself a lot of promises. You will resolve to change your mode of living. You will determine to do better than you ever did before.

"It is better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all." Perhaps it is better to form a resolution and keep it for a time, than never to attempt a reformation.

I am glad we celebrate New Year if for no other reason than because it is a day when everybody makes a serious survey of his manner of dealing with life.

Length of days is determined by many things. All your little habits have a bearing on it. Some of them make a big difference.

When you are young, you have such a reserve of months that you are indifferent to the ultimate effects of what you propose doing. When you grow old before you should, you sadly lament the mistakes of your youth.

Without health, everything else is ashes. Without eyesight and hearing, a good heart and sturdy muscles, what is the use of money or position?

Nature has given youth such abounding physical vigor that the body resists an amazing amount of abuse. Kind Nature, too, overlooks many youthful shortcomings. But, in general, she holds us to account for every broken rule.

Outside of physical misconduct, violative of moral principles, our chief mistakes relate to our habits of eating, sleeping, breathing, dressing and exercising.

As regards eating, the most common fault is that we eat too much. There is much truth in the old saying: "You live on one-third of what you eat; the doctor lives on the other two-thirds!"

The average person sleeps too little. More hours in bed in a well-ventilated room will add to your years.

Deep breathing and fresh air will round out your figure and give color to your cheeks.

Dry feet, warm hands and clothing suited to the temperature are essential to health.

Enough exercise every day to produce honest sweat will promote good temper and vigor of body.

Resolve to make 1925 the best of your years in the observance of health rules. Keep your mind sweet by thinking good thoughts. Make yourself happy by kindness to others. Do these things and the health and long life, that I wish you, will be your reward.

Answers to Health Questions

C. E. D. R. Q.—Can cancer be contracted by coming into close contact with a person who had a cancerous breast removed several years ago, the cancer being caused by a severe blow.

A.—No, cancer cannot be contracted in this way.

* * *

PEGGY J. C. Q.—What will remove scars left by pimples?

A.—Apply hot and cold compresses alternately night and morning for ten minutes.

* * *

WINIFRED BLACK WRITES ABOUT A Happy New Year

Copyright, 1924, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Winifred Black

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

Here it is again—with all the bells ringing and all the Christmas berries scarlet and all the windows gay with wreaths.

What is there in the world so pretty as a Christmas wreath—all green and scarlet and as round as a wedding ring? Nothing—except a Christmas tree, or, yes, whisper, I'll show you something that's just as pretty.

Put on your thick coat, my dear, and tie your warm hood under your chin. Are your shoes good and stout? That's right—come, let's have a party, just you and me, a frost and snow party, down by the old pond there set in the ring of tall trees.

Why, they're beautiful even with their leaves gone—the great sycamores and maples! What graceful skeletons they have and how the black branches and twigs make a beautiful pattern against the gray of the wintry sky.

Like a Ring of Friendly Spirits

At night they look like a ring of friendly spirits holding hands out there in the moonlight and getting ready for some sort of mystic dance—but in the daytime they are very quiet and only whisper to each other when they see us coming. "Sh, be still, be very still; when they are gone we will talk again."

Look, there's been a party here before us—see all the little footprints, birds and rabbits and squirrels. What a delicious tracery they make in the clean snow.

Here's the pond; no, we won't venture out on the ice—not yet. We wouldn't relish a cold plunge so early in the morning, not even on New Year's Day. Down with you, Little Sister, flat on your face. Little Brother, there, look right before you; look through the thin ice at the edge of the pond; isn't it beautiful?

Why, there's a regular little city there, castles and cottages, and bridges and walks and roads, and see, there's a deep forest! And down on this side is a garden and an orchard, all of them no more than an inch or two inches high. What a fairy world of silent beauty!

And we have passed it by a thousand times and never even suspected it. What? It's made of weeds and shallow grasses frozen there under the ice? Well, maybe you think so, but I don't believe it myself.

I think it's a little fairy world where the frost fairies live—hark! Was that the tinkle of a silver bell? Why, they're wishing each other Happy New Year down there in the frost village! Oh, if you and I could only be small enough and dainty enough to slip under the ice and be a part of the beauty and the enchantment there!

It's all around us, this illusive beauty in Summer and in Winter, and in the Spring and in the Fall, all made for us to see and to enjoy—and how many times we pass it by without even a look.

Teach us a lesson, Little Brother. Read us a lecture, Little Sister. What is it that we are so busy about and so concerned about and so important over—we elders, that we have no time to wander with you and find for ourselves and for you the beauty and the tragic that lies so close to our blind eyes and our unseeing ears?

"I Wish You Joy in Little Things"

Happy New Year, dear friends of my heart, I wish you joy today—peace of mind, contentment and oh, best of all and most of all, I wish you the joy in little things, for if you have that, no road will ever be too long or no night too dark to bring some measure of comfort and happiness to you and yours.

A Happy New Year—the old year with its mistakes and its follies and its carelessness and its half-unconscious cruelty is dead.

Let it sleep—the New Year is here, laughing on the doorstep.

How far will we walk with him: how light will be our steps—do you remember the little footprints the little animals made in the clean snow? I wonder if we make footprints somewhere, we clumsy mortals. They say that no word that is ever spoken ever dies—it lives on and on in the air, and some day some necromancy may be able to bring it back again—who knows these lives of ours, our thoughts, our actions—do they some way leave a trace—and if they do would we like to look back and see what that trace looks like?

A Happy New Year, good friend of mine—real friends, a real home, a fire on the hearth, a shelf of old books, and somewhere in the household a little loving child—these are to you my New Year's wish.

Three-Minute Journeys

WHERE MEN RUB NOSES INSTEAD OF SHAKING HANDS

YOU never think twice of stopping to shake hands with a friend on the street. It is the thing to do and passers-by do not stop to gaze upon you while you do it.

But just suppose you were to stop in the middle of a busy street and greet your friend by rubbing noses with him. Excitement would wax strong and observers would probably think you mad.

A Maori Greeting a Friend.

Yet in New Zealand this is the customary form of friendly greeting among the Maoris. It arouses no more comment nor interest than shaking hands would among us.

This nose rubbing is a very simple ceremony. If a Maori sees a friend approaching him he waits until the latter reaches him. Then he clasps his friend's right hand in his right hand and bends forward until the tips of their noses touch. Then they rub them gently back and forth several times. When this is over, they stand chatting for a while and then bid each other farewell in the same manner.

Customs of greeting and saying farewell differ widely over the world, and what seems perfectly natural to one nation seems utterly bizarre to another. Frenchmen and Russians frequently salute each other with a kiss on either cheek, while American men would be horrified at such an idea.

Yet the spirit that underlies all of these forms is the same. It is merely an expression of joy at seeing a welcome friend. And the cordiality of your greeting can be equally great in any of these methods of greeting.

Advice to Girls

By ANNIE LAURIE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl almost eighteen years old and am going with a young man slightly younger than I am. He is a nice, respectable young man and well thought of by everybody.

Last night he told me he thought that if a girl cared anything for a man and had confidence in him she would not mind his putting his arms around her. He said he would care as much for me if I allowed it, and possibly even more than if I didn't.

PUZZLED.

PUZZLED: You know dear, that your kisses belong to the man you are going to marry. They are a pledge of love and should not be given indiscriminately to every man who happens to be pleasant and agreeable. I have said this before, for that is what it will finally come to if you allow your friend to put his arms around you.

Tell him that you admire him and value his friendship very highly but you feel you would be sacrificing your peace of mind and self-respect and that if you allowed him this privilege others would be justified in assuming that they might do the same.

WORDS of WISE MEN

Happy the man, and happy he alone,
He who can call to-day his own,
He who, secure within, can say
To-morrow, do thy worst, for I have lived to-day. —Dryden.

* * *

Trust him little who praises all, him less who censures all, and him least who is indifferent about all.

* * *

No man ever offended his own conscience, but first or last it was revenged upon him for it.

* * *

The first and worst of all frauds is to cheat oneself. All sin is easy after that.

* * *

The end of man is an action, and not a thought, though it were the noblest.

* * *

Strong reasons make strong actions.

* * *

Run, if you like, but try to keep your breath.
Work like a man, but don't be worked to death. —Holmes.

* * *

Act well at the moment, and you have performed a good action to all eternity.

* * *

He who can take advice is sometimes superior to him who can give it.

* * *

The mind ought sometimes to be amused that it may the better return to thought, and to itself.

* * *

Every man is the architect of his own fortune.

* * *

Every trait of beauty may be traced to some virtue, as to innocence, candor, generosity, modesty and heroism.

* * *

Be cautious with whom you associate, and never give your company or your confidence to persons of whose good principles you are not certain.

Finger Nails Can Be Beautified and Shaped by Simple Rules

By LUCREZIA BORI

The Famous Spanish Prima Donna

ANY woman will do well to devote a certain amount of thought each day to the beauty culture of her finger-nails. The amount of time and thought necessary will diminish as you keep up the practice.

LUCREZIA BORI

The shape of finger-nails can be appreciably changed in three short months.

If you would have lovely almond shaped nails the hard skin which surrounds the base must be pushed down. Do not do this when the skin is hard and dry. Wait until you have first washed your hands in warm water with plenty of soap. Then the cuticle which surrounds your nail will be soft and readily pushed back into place.

Afterwards take an orange stick and shape the cuticle still more firmly by pushing it gently with the orange stick and work upward.

If you find that your nails crack and break easily the best remedy is to rub in cold cream or vaseline at night. It also removes the dull look and gives them a more healthy luster. Rub the cream into all parts of the nail, working it well into the cuticle which surrounds the base of your nail.

Lemon juice also prevents the cuticle of your nails from growing. Another way of applying it is to dissolve a teaspoonful of lemon juice in a cup of tepid water. Soak your nails in this. It whitens the underneath edge about the finger-tips and makes your nails supple and easier to polish.

Speaking of polishing your nails, I advise that you do this thoroughly once a week. They will then retain sufficient luster and will not be too much worn away as constant polishing is likely to do. I may add that it is considered in better taste to have your nails show a medium luster than a high polish. If you use nail powder for polishing you may dampen it with a few drops of Eau de Cologne and you will find it easier to apply. Each time after you wash your hands, rub your nails a few times with the soft powder you use for drying.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By JEANNETTE YOUNG NORTON

The Authority on Home Cooking

Cake for New Year's Day Entertaining.

THOUGH the fashion of making New Years calls has passed, yet if friends do drop in, it is nice to have some good cake on hand to offer them accompanied by tea, coffee or fruit punch. The old-fashioned cakes that are in loaves to slice in generous slices belong to holiday time and it is of these cakes one always thinks when they speak of real "home-made" cake.

Washington Pound Cake.

Wash the salt from one pound of butter, then work it to a cream. Have ready a pound of sifted flour and a pound of sifted powdered sugar. Add alternately a little of each and a little of the froth of twelve eggs well beaten. Continue beating until all ingredients are added and the cake seems light, then stir in a little grated nutmeg and a little grated lemon peel. Bake in a square shallow pan lightly greased and floured. Bake in a medium oven until a broom splint will come out clean. Frost the cake with a soft frosting flavored with lemon.

Almond Cake.

Cream together a cupful of butter and one and a half cupfuls of powdered sugar. When creamy add the yolks of three eggs, a half cupful of sour milk, a teaspoonful of soda, three cupfuls of sifted flour worked in slowly, a teaspoonful of vanilla and the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Have ready a pound of blanched almonds that have been coarsely chopped. Cover the bottom of a buttered pan with a layer of the cake dough, then sprinkle it thickly with the almonds, put in another layer of dough and another layer of almonds, then more dough. Bake in a medium oven. This cake may also have a soft frosting and a few of the almonds may be used to decorate the top if the cake is to be eaten right away.

Cocoanut Layer Cake.

Cream together a cupful of butter and two cupfuls of sugar. Add the beaten yolks of four eggs, a cupful of rich sweet milk and four cupfuls of sifted flour in which a saltspoonful of salt, and three teaspoonfuls of baking powder has been mixed. Beat well, then add the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Divide in four small or three large jelly-cake tins that have been very lightly greased and floured. Bake twenty-five to thirty minutes. The filling is made of a cupful of sugar and a half cupful of water cooked together for five minutes then turned into a stiffly beaten egg white. Add two cupfuls of freshly grated cocoanut and two teaspoonfuls of vanilla. Cover the entire cake with a lemon frosting, made by beating the white of an egg stiffly adding two tablespoonfuls of hot water the juice of half a lemon, and enough confectioners' sugar to make a frosting that will spread easily.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

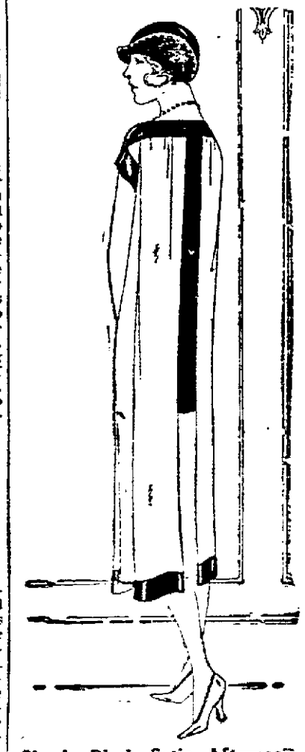

THURSDAY, JANUARY 1.

The year begins—that is, the calendar year and not the astrological year—with a rather inauspicious planetary configuration. It may be best to defer all purely workaday affairs until more fortuitous rulership. Even ordinary business correspondence should be postponed as the auguries are for possible misunderstanding or misrepresentation. The tendency to rash and quarrelsome acts should be held in leash and any idea of litigation abandoned. Speculation is under unfortunate rule and those in the employment of others are enjoined to safeguard their positions.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year calling for careful and conservative management. Speculation should be avoided as well as litigation. The contentions and impulsive spirit should be subdued and more than ordinary precaution taken in signing contracts and in all matters of marriage. A child born on this day may be quick, impulsive and high-spirited, with a tendency to rash acts and extravagance. Veracity should be instilled in infancy.

Today's Fashion

By VERA WINSTON

Simple Black Satin Afternoon Gown, Trimmed with Black Velvet.

THE unusual black satin afternoon gown sketched above follows a very simple pattern.

The dress drops straight from the shoulders and there are four slim panels, two in front and two at the back. Each of these is edged in black velvet. Black velvet also outlines the neck, and simulates tiny sleeves. A strip of velvet joins the two back panels.

The hat is black felt with clamps of silver about its edges.

RUMOR WAGS HER TONGUE

PUTS CERTAIN NAMES IN LINE FOR PLUM PICKING.

Jess Craig Said to Be Listed as Finance Head While Frank A. Kennedy Unofficially Is Head of Labor.

While Governor Adam McMullen has announced no appointments, rumor has been busy and many unofficial slates have been posted as more or less authentic if unofficial. Here is the latest:

Jess Craig, Lincoln, secretary of finance.

H. J. McLaughlin, Grand Island, secretary of agriculture. Others talked of for this place are Joe Mayer of Beatrice and Harry Ayers of Scottsbluff.

For state sheriff, Condit of Fremont, despite assertions that Mr. Condit would not take the office at the present salary. John C. McClung, deputy United States marshal, has been regarded as one of the leading candidates for this office.

Frank A. Kennedy, labor commissioner. He comes from Omaha and held this office under McKelvie.

John Trouton of Omaha is mentioned for fire commissioner, altho the present incumbent, C. E. Hartford, is said to have strong endorsement.

C. G. Stoll, now with the guaranty fund commission, A. F. Ackerman of University Place and B. J. Hilsabeck of Kenesaw, are said to have been recommended for the commission job by a committee from the state bankers

Harry Scott, tax commissioner.

Guy Patton, insurance commissioner.

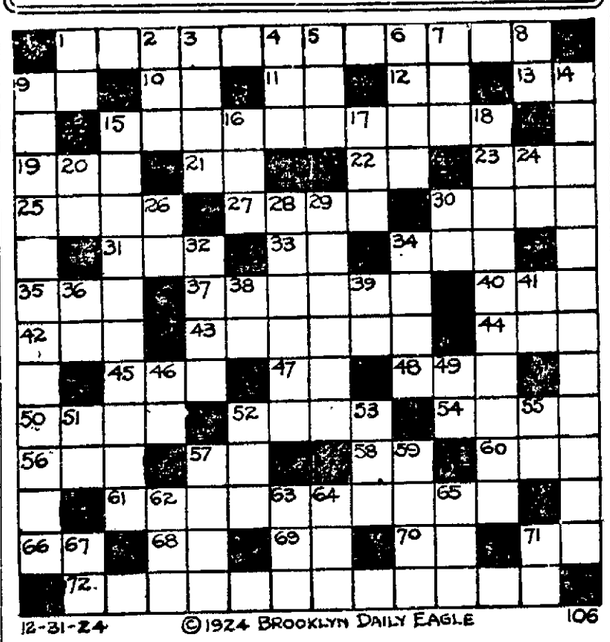

State Engineer Cochran to be retained.

H. H. Antles for the department of public welfare.

OMAHA MAY TAKE BOTH

OFFERS TO CAPTURE BOTH HOUSE AND SENATE.

Senator Robbins and Rerpesentative Rodman Candidates for Honors in Respective Houses.

Advance guard of the legislature drop into Lincoln occasionally to inquire about the organization of the two houses. Some who are supporting Senator John W. Robbins of Omaha against Senator John Wiltse of Falls City for president pro tem of the senate, express fear that Omaha candidates cannot hope to reap all the honors. Representative James A. Rodman of Omaha is one of the leading candidates for speaker of the house and Senator Robbins is a candidate for president of the senate. It is alleged the contest for president of the senate is between Robbins and Wiltse. Whether Omaha can hope to furnish candidates for the two leading positions remains to be seen. Senator Charles J. Warner of Lancaster has been mentioned as a cadidate for president of the senate. This is an honorary position which becomes important only when the lieutenant governor is absent and cannot preside over the senate.

Chief Clerk F. P. Corrick of the house, who is a candidate for reelection, is said to have at least forty of the republican majority pledged to him.

Clyde Barnard of Table Rock is said to be little worried over the outcome of his rival, R. G. Douglas of Osceola, formerly a member of the house, who is a candidate for secretary of the senate. Former Senator Rickard of Guide Rock is also a candidate.

PINCH KISSING PROFESSOR

Wife Charges His Kisses All Right But He Pinched So Hard They Wouldn't Register.

CHICAGO, Dec 31.—The tale of the "pinch-kissing prof," from North Carolina and Missouri was continued in divorce court here today. "His kisses were all right, judge, but with every kiss he pinched me so hard they simply wouldn't register."

That charge is from Mrs. Helen Journey, now living in Oak Park, Ill., who is suing to divorce Prof. R. Cresap Journey, a member of the faculty of North Carolina State agricultural college at Raleigh.

"Not so. It's this way judge: She was so friendly with one of the college boys I had to move my family away from Columbia, Mo., to separate them."

That is the answer of the accused professor, formerly on the faculty of the University of Missouri.

And so the college boy, Oscar Harmon, was called by Judge Joseph Sabath and told his version of the "pinch-kissing" as follows:

"About this kissing business now, your honor," Harmon began.

"I was boarding with the Journeys. Well, before every meal the professor would caress his wife—give her a tender kiss. Then his arm would steal around her and ne would give her a pinch.

"A look of great pain would come over her face—a look of great joy over his. Then he'd smack his lips and seemed to enjoy his meal that much better."

Then Harmon went on to relate another of Mrs. Journey's charges.

"The professor wanted me to court Mrs. Journey so that he would have something on her," the student declared. "He had tried it with another man but Mrs. Journey thought that fellow was too crude and the affair didn't get on to the professor's satisfaction."

"He thought you were more adroit, did he?" broke in a lawyer.

"No, sir," Harmon replied. "I admit I've kissed some girls in my time but I'm still a gentleman."

Harmon is to finish his story today.

CLAIMS HAIR PULLED OUT

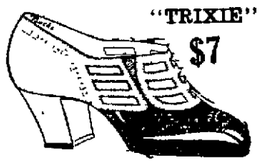

Woman Bumps Head on Branch of Tree and Says She Does Not Wear a Wig.

A projecting limb over a sidewalk on Twenty-eighth street between Q and R, deprived a woman of some of her unbobbed hair and she has taken the time to drop Commissioner Cowgill a note on the subject. New walks were recently laid but the limb remains a menace, she says. While attempting to walk under the limb and upon the sidewalk, her hat bumped into the limb. The hat was securely pinned. Something must give way and the something was a bundle of natural hair.

"My hair is not bobbed nor do I wear a wig," she writes. "If my head doesn't amount to much, there are othefs entitled to protection."

The street department head will refer the communication to the mayor as head of the department of parks.

LONE BANDIT IS HUNTED

MURDERED EXPRESS MESSENGER IN HOLDUP.

Viking Express Is Entered and Man Killed—Outlaw Apparently Unsuccessful in Robbery.

CHICAGO, Dec. 31.—Thruout Chicago's underworld today a man hunt was on for the lone train bandit who murdered an express messenger in an apparently unsuccessful express hold up

The bandit, working alone, entered the baggage car of the Viking express on the Northwestern road, Chicago bound, killed Russell Dickey of Milwaukee, an armed messenger guard, locked two other trainmen in a cubby hole, and escaped in a taxicab. A hasty examination of the car showed safes apparently intact and officials said they believed no loot was obtained.

To the taxi driver whom he forced at the point of a gun to help him escape the bandit told of having a confederate and boasted that he had "killed a man" while his aide got away with "200 grand"—($200,000). Train men however, insisted the bandit was alone.

William White, sixty-four, former professional baseball player, is dead.

Weir of Beta chapter at the University of Iowa, R M Calder of Epsilon chapter in Texas Gamma chapter at John Hopkins university and Delta chapter at Chicago were unable to send delegates Among the alumni of the Lincoln chapter who were present were R. B. Sanderson, Clifford Kent, Hardin Tennant and R. H. Loder of Lincoln; Donald Bitzer of Fairfield; Robert Coufal and Donald Prawit zof Omaha and Lyle Caves of University Place. A number of the active men in the local group were also present.

WANTS COURT DECISIONS

Street Department Head Says Should Have Definite Sort of Lines to Follow.

When he learned Wednesday that a temporary injunction preventing him from chopping down two trees at Eleventh and A streets had been granted, Commissioner Cowgill said:

"We were merely attempting to put in a walk to line up with connecting walks. I find a lack of decisions setting forth our rights in regard to grading and sidewalks. We have the same situation at Twenty-eighth and Q streets and because of injunction, we are unable to close up a paving district. We also have a like situation at Twelfth and C streets. We should have decisions on trees the same as on signs."

Ernest Hunt was granted a decree of divorce from Florence Hunt on his cross-petition, by District Judge Frost Wednesday morning on grounds of extreme cruelty. Their one child was given to the custody of Lydia Hatfield and the husband ordered to pay $15 a month for its support.

Thomas U. Harris filed a divorce petition against Emma A. Harris in the district court Wednesday forenoon charging extreme cruelty and refusal to perform the ordinary household duties and to make a home. The couple were married in Lincoln, Oct. 30, 1922. There are no children.

J. B. King, who told police that he is employed by the Sinclair company at Omaha, was jailed following his arrest Wednesday morning on a charge of illegal possession of liquor. About a gallon of alleged alcohol was taken as evidence by Federal Marshal McClung, Captain of Detectives Anderson and Detective Meyers.

She assumed her new duties at the home for dependent children Wednesday.

Belle Berry of Seward county was confirmed by the supreme court Wednesday as the legal guardian of Bertha F. Ramp, incompetent. Her right was contested by Frank Defoe of Johnson county, named as her guardian in that county, which was her residence. She had property in Seward county. It was over control of the latter that the controversy rose.

There are those who believe the only true and genuine holiday cheer is that of the spiritous variety that comes in a bottle. Not so, say the Lincoln police whose activities Tuesday night and Wednesday designed to hamper the New Year's trade for bootleggers, netted six gallons of alcohol and police court cases against five persons arrested in connection with the liquor. The tale is not yet all told, and other arrests are impending, it was indicated at headquarters Wednesday.

The supreme court Wednesday affirmed the judgment of $532 that Perry M. Kenney secured in Pierce county against Joseph Braum. Keeney ran a motion picture show in Pierce in a building rented from the defendant. A fire occurred and Keeney said that when he went around to discuss re-occupancy with his landlord the latter threw him out and never did allow him back. He got a judgment of $1 for assault and battery damages and the remainder for loss of profits for remainder of his lease.

Tune in on the wonderful radio program to be given by Victor Artists including John McCormack, Miss Bori, Shannon Quartet and Victor Salon Orchestra to be broadcast from stations WJAR, WEEI, WFI, WCAE, WCAP, WDBH, WGR at 8 p. m. central standard time, Jan. 1. Don't miss out on such joys as the radio affords. It will surprise you to learn how easy it is to buy a radio. Come in today. Ross P. Curtice Co. B3355.—Adv

Fred Potter, arrested early Wednesday morning by Officers Joe Rymer and Steve Goodwin pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal possession of liquor and was fined $100 and costs by Judge Chappell. About four gallons of alcohol in a big earthenware jug was "spotted" by police but the stuff seemed to be an orphan. No one came to claim it as his own after many hours of watching by police, so the liquor was confiscated and taken to police headquarters. Potter upon his arrest twelve hours later admitted ownership.

Gerald Ross, arrested on a charge of speeding at the rate of thirty miles per hour in the twelve-mile limit district, was granted a continuance in police court Wednesday morning. Judge Chappell continued the case for thirty days, during which Ross is not to be permitted to drive an automobile. C. L. Ester, charged with driving across a curb, was fined $1 and costs.

Among the guests to be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Colbert will be Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Coble, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Loomis and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lamphere.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Cochran will have as their guests, Dr. and Mrs. Robert C. Olney and Mr. and Mrs. George Leonard. Reservations have also been made by Mr. and Mrs. L. Gunderson for four, E. B. Minnick for four, Frank Williams for four, E. B. Stephenson, three, and William J. Chamberlain for two.

Many friends called during the afternoon hours Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Westfall, 159 West Sixth street, College View, on the occasion of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Westfall, and others are expected to be present during the evening when open house will be held. Appropriate to the occasion a gold color motif was used in the decorations, bowls of gold-colored ophelia roses, candles in the same shade furnished the only light, and ferns making the rooms attractive. Assisting in the receiving were Mrs. William Hornung, Mrs. W. A. Forsythe, Mrs. Horace Bingham, Mrs. Frank Mills and Miss Florence Johnson. The serving table was decorated in the roses and a tea service of Titian ware with gold band, a gift from the Westfall children to their parents, was used. Mr. and Mrs. Westfall were married December 31, 1874, in Bigelow, Mo., where they lived for several years, Mr. Westfall being in business there. They moved later to Talmadge, and then to St. Joseph, Mo. After a number of years they returned to Nebraska where they have made their home in College View since 1916. Of their five children, three are now living and all are here for the celebration. They are, Mrs. Richard L. Aage of New York City, Mrs. Paul Elliott and Henry Van Tile Westfall of College View.

Annual church night will be held in the basement of the Bethany Christian church Wednesday evening, with dinner served at 6 o'clock. After the business meeting, when reports of the various church organizations are made, a reception will be held for Rev. C. F. Stevens, the pastor, who leaves Friday to take charge of his new pastorate, the South Broadway church of Denver. During the evening new officers for the coming year will be chosen.

The Misses Louise and Lillian Blanchard entertained at an evening bridge party at their home Tuesday honoring Mrs. W. Wyatt Hunter, who was Miss Janet Wimble before her recent marriage. There were three tables of bridge and the high score was won by Miss Marjorie Cooper and the low by Miss Verene Anderson. The holiday colors of red and green were carried out in the decorations and the refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Brown and daughter Dorothy of Gothenburg arrived Wednesday from Gothenburg and they will occupy the Hemenway house at 1527 South Twenty-fifth for the remainder of the winter. Mr. Brown is a member of the legislature and will attend the sessions during the first of the year and Dorothy will finish her course in the University of Nebraska.

The Axtell-Lincoln club was entertained at 1 o'clock luncheon Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Robert Campbell, 3149 R street. Covers were laid for ten at one large table with a centerpiece of red holly, and place cards and nut bowls carrying out the holly suggestion. Miss Audrey Utterbach was the only guest. The afternoon was spent informally, the entertainment being a series of humorous New Years' resolutions made by the various members.

Word has been received of the birth of a son Wednesday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Milton Blankenship of Shenandoah, Ia. The baby has been named John Harnly. Mrs. Blankenship was formerly Miss Kathryn Harnly of this city. Her mother and sister, Mrs. L. C. Harnly and Miss Thelma Harnly returned from a visit to Shenandoah Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Earl Brooks was hostess at a pretty party when she entertained the T. N. T. club Wednesday for a 1 o'clock luncheon. Mrs. Lester Jones of Denver who has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Brown was the only guest. Covers were laid at two tables for thirteen and the afternoon was spent at bridge.

La Coterie club was entertained at luncheon Wednesday at the home of Mrs. G. O. Virtue. Fifteen members were present including two new members, Mrs. J. M. Mayhew and Mrs. Earl S. Fullbrook. Christmas decorations were used thruout the rooms and the luncheon was served buffet style, the afternoon being spent informally.

Omaha members of Alpha Phi sorority will entertain at a luncheon and bridge party Saturday at the Hotel Fontenelle. Miss Alice Kauffman who is spending the holidays in Omaha will be the only guest from Lincoln. Miss Marcelle Stenger of Columbus and Miss Ida Prime of Seward will also be in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Loughridge, 1319 South Twenty-fifth, had as their guests for Christmas their daughter, Mrs. B. H. French, Mr. French and their three children of Page. Mr. French returned home Sunday and Mrs. French and the children will remain for about a month.

Miss Nellie Compton entertained seven guests at luncheon at the Country club Wednesday noon honoring her mother's sister, Miss Nellie Macafee of Pittsburg who is here to spend the week. The guests included friends of Miss Macafee and the after luncheon hours were spent very informally.

Mrs. J. C. Graebing entertained the eight members of a club at an attractive holiday luncheon Wednesday at her home. Decorations carried out the Christmas idea with a centerpiece on the luncheon table of winter flowers and foliage in a large basket combined with red candles.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Baird returned Tuesday from New York City where they spent the past two weeks visiting their daughter, Mrs. Jack J. Wright, and Mr. Wright and their son, John E. Baird, jr.

Miss Ellen Fritzlen is spending the week in Omaha where she is the guest of Miss Elice Holovtchiner, a sorority sister in Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Miss Ruth Smith entertained at luncheon Monday at the Country club honoring Miss Ermiline Silber of Chicago who is here with her parents for a short time. There were eight guests and the luncheon was followed by a theater party.

J. T. Bridges of Milwaukee is spending the Christmas holidays in Lincoln with his sister, Mrs. B. A. George and Mr. George and their nephew, Baxter George. He will remain until after New Year's.

Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Andrews have had as their house guests over the holidays Doctor Andrew's parents. Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Andrews of St. Paul. They returned to their home Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rolla Van Kirk are expected home Wednesday evening from a short wedding trip and will make their home at 1135 South Sixteenth. Mrs. Van Kirk was formerly Miss Lenore Burkett.

Mr and Mrs. W. A. Woodward who have been visiting in the city since Thanksgiving time with relatives and friends, left Tuesday evening for their home in Los Angeles.

Mrs. A. L. Almquist, who has been ill for several weeks, has suffered a relapse and is seriously ill at her home, 318 South Twenty-fifth.

Mrs. Emily P. Hornberger is visiting in Omaha at the home of her son, Evan Z. Hornburger, and Mrs. Hornberger. She formerly resided in Lincoln.

Mrs. Donald Pettis has returned home after a holiday visit in Omaha with her mother, Mrs. Frank Carpenter.

Miss Margaret Watson is visiting with friends in Omaha for a short time during the Christmas holidays.

OLD COUPLE PASS AWAY ON EVE OF FIFTY-EIGHTH ANNIVERSARY

COL. AND MRS. J. H. M'CLAY.

Colonel and Mrs. McClay will be buried together Thursday, January 1, the day which would have marked their fifty-eighth wedding anniversary. The colonel passed away Monday afternoon and his wife the next day, both having been ill for months. The double funeral will be held Thursday at 2:30 o'clock at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, Fifteenth and L, Dr. John Andrew Holmes officiating and Masonic rites will be conducted at the grave in Wyuka.

John McClay and Tryphena M Wickshire were married New Year's day, 1867 at Farmington, Ill., and came to Nebraska four years later, settling on a farm near Bennet. Two years later they removed to Lincoln, which was their home ever after and where their three children live, Postmaster Will McClay, Mrs. Lee Schureman and Mrs. Fay Lapp. A sister of the colonel also lives here, Mrs. Hattie Warren.

Colonel McClay celebrated his eightieth birthday in October of last year by working as usual in the office of clerk of the federal district court, which he resigned last summer after seventeen years of service. He had been county clerk and county commissioner, served several terms in the legislature, and attained the rank of lieutenant-colonel in the Spanish-American war. The colonel's avocations were the study of history and philosophy, and the Masonic lodge, in which he held many positions of honor. He was a member of Lincoln lodge No. 19, A. F. & A. M., past eminent commander of Mt. Moriah commandery of Knights Templas, was a Thirty-third degree Knight Templar, and had been treasurer of Sesostris shrine. He was also active in the G. A. R. serving as commander of Appomattox post before it was merged with Farragut.

Both Colonel and Mrs. McClay passed away at the family home, 1826 Pepper avenue, within day of each other.

DAUGHTERS ARE LUNCHEON GUESTS

Pathfinders Club Holds Annual Daughters' Day—Mrs. E. L. Hinman Speaks on Child Labor Amendment.

The daughters of the Pathfinders held the center of the stage at the Pathfinder luncheon at the Grand hotel Wednesday, the occasion being the observance of the annual daughter's day held by the club. About fifty Pathfinders and their daughters were present.

The program was opened with several musical numbers by a boys' instrumental trio composed of Lawrence Tyler, Clifford Waite and Robert Mossholder. Bess Miller, daughter of one of the club members gave a short concert on the piano. She played Chopin's "Waltz in 'A' Flat Minor," "Polonaise" and "Witches Dance" by MacDowell, "Segidilla" by Albenz and "Rigoletta Paraphrase" by Liszt.

With the conclusion of the musical program Mrs. E. L. Hinman gave a short talk on the proposed child labor amendment to the national constitution. She declares that the name "Child Labor Amendment" is a mis-nomer and that rather it should be an amendment restricting the exploitation of child labor. Mrs. Hinman described factory conditions she observed in various factories where children are employed and urged the club members to solidly support the national movement. She was introduced by Mrs. W. M. Morning.

TRACK GERM TO ITS LAIR

MICROBE WHICH CAUSES RIC-COUGH ISOLATED.

Somewhat Like One That Causes Severe Tonsilitis and Certain Kinds of Blood Poisoning.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—The hiccough germ has been tracked to its lair, finger printed and made an orderly citizen, Dr. Edward C. Rosenow, of the Mayo fundation today informed the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Announcing the isolation and identification of the germ which causes the mysterious epidemics of hiccoughs that sweep sections of the country from time to time, Rosenow said it is a round germ that throws off a poison which acts on the nervous system. The system reacts spasmodically causing the hiccoughs.

The germ is a streptococcus, somewhat like the one that causes severe tonsilitis and certain kinds of blood poisoning.

Other disclosures of interest made at the convention today in the hundreds of papers read by distinguished scientists include:

The United States will maintain equilibrium of population, with births and deaths just balancing, in 1960.

A powerful and as yet little understood serum has been discovered, a few drops of which, if placed in a city's water supply would clear up a typhoid epidemic.

Standards of just what infants as young as four and six months should do in the way of talking and behaving have been established by clinical studies, and mothers now may know by studying tables whether their youngsters are normal or not before they are able to sit up.

"The demon star" algol, which turns its light on and off, has been found to consist of four separate bodies which inter-rotate, occulting the main body and shutting off its light from the earth from time to time.

Dr. R. M. Harper of the Florida Geological survey is responsible for the statement births and deaths will be equal in the United States in 1960. He assumed that immigration will be restricted and that birth and death rates will continue to decrease. He credits automobiles and women suffrage with being important factors in the reduction of the size of the average American family, which now consists of 2.4 adults and 1.2 children.

Reported discovery of germs so minute that the most powerful microscope could not see them nor the finest filter strain them out were charged by Dr. Lloyd Arnold of Chicago. Arnold attributed the effects ascribed to these suspected germs to toxins or enzymes, nonliving substances which have powerful properties.

Loss of a month of progress in development in the first year of life of a child may be as serious as a whole year or more of retardation in later school life, Dr. Arnold Gesell of Yale told the convention.

Children who attend nursery schools show an increase in intelligence over those of the same age who stay at home, Dr. Helen T. Wooley, of Detroit said, crediting the difference to the superior environment of the school.

FINED ON HOOCH CHARGE

L. C. Kelley and Edward Hultquist Draw $200 and Costs Each in Court.

L. C. Kelley, giving an Omaha address, and Edward Hultquist, arrested together in a Ford coupe parked near the Lincoln hotel Tuesday night, pleaded guilty in police court Wednesday morning to charges of illegally transporting and illegally possessing intoxicating liquor. Officers Steve Goodwin and Jake White, the arresting officers, found slightly less than a gallon of alcohol in the car. The Ford coupe, belonging to Kelley, and the liquor were confiscated, and both men were fined $200 and costs by Judge Chappell.

Angeline Taylor, a waitress arrested in the car with Kelley and Hultquist, told the court Wednesday morning that she had made a dance dat ewith Kelley, and knew nothing of the alcohol in the car. She had just entered the car with Kelley expecting to drive to a dance when the police arrived, she declared. Upon her plea of not guilty to a charge of illegal possession, judge Chappell set her bond at $1,000 and her case was continued to Friday.

GOVERNOR BRYAN MOVING

Assists in Transporting Personal Property From State's Mansion to His Own Home.

Governor Bryan returned Tuesday night from Omaha where he and other members of the capitol commission were guests of honor at a luncheon and dinner given by the Omaha commercial club and the greater Omaha committee. He did not appear in his office in the new capitol Wednesday morning. He was busy all day superintending the removal of his family's personal belongings from the governor's mansion. The governor carried his favorite belongings to ensure against breakage and counted the silver. State Land Commissioner Swanson checks in and checks out incoming and retiring governors at the mansion. Governor Bryan expects to vacate the governor's mansion and be installed in his former home, 1700 B street, New Year's day. Governor-elect McMullen will occupy the mansion some time prior to his inauguration, January 8.

ONE WEEK AT ORDINANCE

New Year's Eve an Emergency Sort of Night and Seldom Bothers Officials.

A wink at the anti-joy ordinances of the city for New Years eve is excused on the ground that the event seldom happens. The 11:30 closing rule as applicable to dances is stretched to 12:05 a. m. This will permit the seeing of the New Year in without the need of freezing small pink toes.

Theaters are permitted to keep open until 12:05 this night, according to Mayor Zehrung. He said that altho it once was proposed to amend the amusement ordinance to prevent early morning dancing and shows, the thing was never done. Under the present law, dance halls may open at one minute after midnight on any morning except Sunday.

FIND VICTIMS' SKELETONS

Remains of Six Killed by Cannibal Man Dug up on Farm.

BERLIN, Dec. 31.—Skeletons of six victims of Karl Denke, the cannibal man of Muensterberg, have been dug up in the forest near his silesian farm. Denke, who hanged himself after his arrest Christmas eve, is believed to have killed and eaten a score of men.

MAY CLOSE LONG PROBE

TEAPOT DOME INVESTIGATION DUE TO END.

Walsh Announces He Will Move Monday to Take up Committee's Report and Move Adoption by Senate.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31. — The senate may write finis upon its long and sensational Teapot Dome investigation next Monday.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh, prime mover in the oil inquiry, announced today that he would move at that time to take up his committee's report and ask its adoption by the senate.

The report is merely a recitation of the testimony with some interpretations by Walsh. It contains no recommendations for legislation. But republicans—and particularly Senator Spencer of Missouri—object strenuously to Walsh's interpretations. Spencer prevented the senate from acting upon the Walsh report at the last session until he could prepare one of his own. Thus far, he has neglected to do so.

Other more or less sensational investigations undertaken which have come to an unnoticed death include:

The diploma mill inquiry instituted by Senator Royal S. Copeland of New York, to ascertain how widespread was the practice of issuing fake certificates to physicians.

The investigation of Senator Thomas J. Heflin into the alleged frauds in sales of Texas lands.

The investigation of Russian propaganda circulated in the United States, conducted by Senator Borah.

The campaign expenditures inquiry authorized upon demand of Senator Robert M. LaFollette.

The probe of all alleged propaganda thrust upon congress, especially concerning the Bok Peace prize, which was sponsored by Senator Reed, Missouri democrat.

All of them have either accomplished their purpose of definitely failed to do so, and for one reason or another are slipping from the public eye.

RECEIVER NAMED FOR MUNSON CO.

Motor Company Is Declared Insolvent and Is Placed in Hands of William McGinley on $4,000 Bond.

The Munson Motor company is insolvent according to a petition filed in the district court, and has been placed in the hands of a receiver. William McGinley was named to take over the affairs of the company, in an order signed by District Judge Shepherd Wednesday morning.

Richard E. Munson brought suit against the Munson Motor company, Carl E. Munson, O'Shea Rogers, The National Bank of Commerce and Eugene Levi for $3,937.00 on thirteen notes executed by the defendants. The suit was filed December 24.

In the order appointing a receiver, the receiver is directed to take charge of twenty-seven automobiles and the affairs of the company. His bond is fixed at $4,000.

BANS WHEAT DUTY.

PARIS, Dec. 31.—President Doumergue today signed a decree suppressing import duties on wheat to be used for making bread.

"THE GOLDEN BED"

THE SEASON'S GREATEST NOVEL OF MARRIAGE.

Produced as a Paramount picture by Cecil B. DeMille from a screen adaptation by Jeanie Macpherson.

BY WALLACE IRWIN (Copyright.)

But when Admah had paid his lunch check and gone out for his hat he enjoyed an elation in the region of his local pride. He was glad Mabel had done so well and shown the world a few tricks it didn't know. And he was glad that the European nobility had recognized the Peakes. . . Gosh, he thought, that little queen holding the bunch of roses must be the very baby I saw christened the day I stood by the church with the candy basket. . . .

As he went around the corner to take his Ford out of its parking place he was under the spell of a dream, unusual to the man of action that Admah had become.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

He had been away from the store all morning, pursuing an enterprise of his own in the young, flourishing town which had sprung up across the wide river after the K. & G. bridge was built. The sight of his new store always affected Admah headily. On a good corner—the Grand avenue shopping district was growing rapidly around it—the front glowed flagrantly with the vermillion paint which he had caused to be mixed three times to suit his eye. . . plenty of yellow in the red, so that the folks would stop and stare at the big gold sign CANDY HOLTZ. To Admah that sight gave the esthetic pleasure which an artist feels when at last he has found his metier.

That day, as he stepped from his Ford and stood regarding the effect, his venturesome corner looked good to Admah Holtz. His nickel-plated candy-puller in the window was patiently, faithfully turning its skein of strawberry-colored taffy. A novelty in town, he had imported that candy-puller after having seen its double working on the boardwalk at Atlantic City. Jo had warned him of the expense. Jo, of course, would. . . But the device was already paying is own rent. More than that, it was flashing a message to the passerby, telling the world about Holtz.

Admah found Jo behind the counter, weighing out taffy which he cracked with a little silver hammer. There were three customers waiting and Jo looked peevish. Therefore Admah hurried to the rescue in time to satisfy one with a half-pound of peppermints and another with a box of Home Sweet chocolates—the latter he bought in job lots from a local factory and repacked under his own label. Other customers came in and Admah attended them handily; without apparent effort he served twice as fast as Jo who prided himself on his thoroness.

Presently there fell a lull in trade. While Jo worked fussily to satisfy the demand of an old lady who came in to find an extinct variety of lemon drop Charley Finch, their thin-wristed clerk, returned from lunch. Out back Admah cast a proprietorial eye over his force; three colored girls stood at marble-topped work tables dropping peppermints out of little machines especially made for dropping. Ma Holtz's iron spoon and pan had been relegated to the past. The marble-topped tables were standardized articles, manufactured by a confectioners' supply company in Detroit. What then had become of the reconverted gravestone upon which Ma had so laboriously dripped a million pep'mints? Admah knew, and Jo, of course, had found out. The idea had seemed silly to Jo, but his protests hadn't weakened Admah's determination that her name and a line from "Walk in the Light" be cut in the slab and that it mark a mound beside Pa Holtz's in a cluttered churchyard across the river. Sentimentality, you'll say. Yes, but the golded stones that mark a pharaoh's tomb are sentimental too.

After he had made a round of the new store, exulting in the neatness and the smartness of it all, Admah came back to the counter and found Jo resting behind a copy of the Star-Eagle. Pale, thin and straw-colored, the older Holtz brother had already lost some of his front hair and wore a tamed, uxorious look.

"Well," he drawled from behind the sheet, "I see your best girl's bobbed up again."

"Forget it," Admah invited, then by the way of a counter irritant, "I've looked over that corner in Scudderville and about decided to take a lease."

"Better look out," said Jo, employing his formula. Then he threw aside his paper, wrinkled his queer little forehead and enquired, "See here, Ad, when's this goin' to stop?"

"When's what goin' to stop?"

"Well, we've got this store and we're out fifteen hundred for improvements. And you're still hangin' onto them two old lunch-wagons out by the track."

"Hi, Charley!" whispered Admah to his thin-wristed clerk—a customer had come in and was waiting to be served. "Well," he explained to Jo, "the lunch-wagons are paid for, ain't they? And we'll have that fifteen hundred off our chests by the tenth—money in the bank too."

"Well, we ought to let well enough alone. What's the ideer about Scudderville?"

"Start another store like this one—red front, taffy-puller in the window, Candy Holtz sign over the door. That's the chain system we're goin' to work on—maybe all the way up river to Cincinnata."

"Better look out," moaned Jo.

"I am," replied Admah heedlessly. "But this store here is only a starter. It's just here to show what can be done—"

"You're a single man. You can afford to gamble and blow up. I can't."

Jo, it was true, owned a quarter interest in the Candy Holtz enterprise and his opinion was to be considered. But he had played so long in the role of Cassandra that Admah had learned to meet his formula with another.

"Say," he said as if inspired, "d'you want to sell out your share and go on salary?"

"You know durn well I don't," snapped Jo. "But you better look out. If you git too big for your britches you'll bust, that's all. Mark my word. And how in the world can we make pepmints fast enough to supply stores all the way from here to Cincinnata?"

Admah lowered his voice, for another customer had come in and was standing by the taffy counter a few yards away.

"I'm talkin' up a contract with the Pell Steam candy works. They can turn out all we can use—on our order, see?"

"But we're been advertisin' homemade——"

Tremendous Reduction in Price of Enclosed Packard Single Six Cars

This means reduced prices, not changed or cheapened Packards. The Packard Motor Car Company, going into faster production of the Single Six, goes all the way where others have compromised. The same Five Passenger Sedans, fully equipped, that were offered on our floors yesterday for $3,803—are available tomorrow at $2,999 with an $80 reduction if you do not want balloon tires.

These are not two door coaches with tip front seats and cheapened upholstery and finish but the regular four-door standard sedans, with the luxurious finish, the same beautiful broadcloth upholstery, the identical cars that have made the Packard Single Six a world standard for beauty and utility.

The prices of the Packard Single Six open models remain unchanged. Packard announces simply and effectively that the finest sedan can now be bought at the price of the touring car.

A full line of Single Six Sedans will be on display at the Logan Jones Motors, 1608 'O' Street on Friday and Saturday, January 2 and 3. The new prices are effective then and the first few purchasers can have immediate delivery. Additional cars are enroute.

The prices of the Packard Eight remain unchanged.

LATEST MARKETS

CHICAGO, Dec. 31.—Grain futures rallied sharply from the low point finishing strong and higher on the board of trade today.

There was heavy buying in wheat and rye on the strength of reported heavy export sales. A good deal of the buying was also credited to short covering.

Short covering and strength in wheat brought an advance in corn. Cash demand was better with prices higher.

Strength in other grains brought out leading buyers in oats market.

Provisions finished higher with grains, hogs and cables.

Wall Street Journal Review.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Wall street supplied the last opening market of 1924 with selling orders, probably from those who want to clean slates on the old year and start 1925 afresh. General Electric furnished the chief interest opening at 310 up 13 points and then sold off to 304.

Evidently there had been some figuring over night and this brought many new buyers into the stock.

Opening prices included: General Electric 310 up 13; U. S. Steel 118¾ off ⅛; General Motors 64⅞ up ⅝; Chesapeake & Ohio 95½ off ⅛, Studebaker Corp 44⅜ off ⅛; Pan-American Petroleum B 62⅜ off ⅜; Southern Railway 77⅞ off ¼, Industrial Alcohol 65¾ up ⅛, Bethlehem Steel 50; New Haven 30⅛; American Can 156; Union Pacific 148⅜.

HIGH PRAISE FOR SPORTSMEN

EVANSTON, Ill., Dec. 31.—Australia produces the greatest sportsmen in the world. So says Ted Mertz, captain of the Leland Stanford university tennis team, which toured the Antipodes last fall, cleaning up on all of the southern youngsters and bagging victories from Davis cup racqueteers. He returned to his home here recently. "They cheer the visitors and not their home team." Mertz declared. "They applaud good strokes by a youngster and an underdog and let master strokes by their own champions pass by, unnoticed. They throw every stroke that they think the umpire has awarded them by mistake and they do it in a manner which will not offend the official, who, after all, has some feelings. They treated us college players like we were Davis cup men."

New Year's Greetings

To One and All

Here's Hoping

That your Ford of LIFE is hitting true, that you will be able to take all of life's hills on high with plenty of room at the throttle. here's hopeing that your future highway will be smooth and dandy to drive and that you can take the bumps on the by-ways with a smile. Here's hoping that your tires will ever stay up and that your lights will never grow dim and that if you do flood your carbureter during the happy time, that your mixture will be right and that your eye-sight will last until your journey's end. Also a Happy New Year.

TOW STEAMER TO PORT

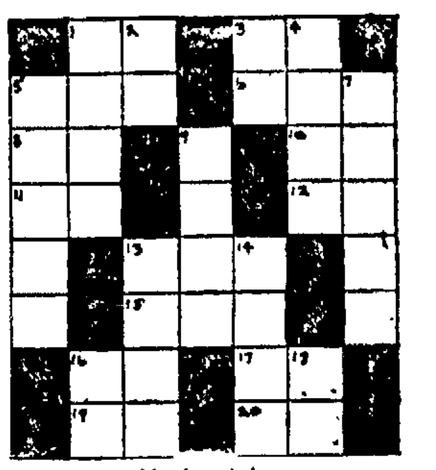

Ginyo Maru Swept by Fire That Snuffed Out Lives of Two Children.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 31.—The steamer Ginyo Maru swept by a fire that snuffed out the lives of two children and badly burned two other passengers was being towed into Manzanillo, Mexico today, saved from total destruction by the heroism of her crew.

Wireless messages received here stated that the fire still smouldered aboard the vessel but that little further damage was anticipated.

Most of the passengers of the Ginyo are being taken into Manzanillo by the liner Julia Luckenbach.

·Men and Things·

One of the phenomena of the insurance business in this country is the growth of the number of companies that write liability insurance. It is safe to wager that there is no hazard of any consequence against which some company is not willing to insure you. One of the organs of this branch of the business says that the ambulance-chasing type of lawyer is responsible for this condition. The workmen's compensation law closed the avenue to rich pickings for this sort of limb of the law, but it spurred him on to devise other sorts of damage suits The automobile has greatly increased the field of liability, and as juries are very free with other person's money, insurance is growing in favor.

One of the factors that helped push up prices and which is helping maintain them is the tendency of juries to give large verdicts when the defendant is a corporation of any sort or an insurance company. The street car companies and railroads have always been shining marks for jurors to hit with big verdicts. All that happens is that these pass on to the public generally the burden of payment. When it cannot be done directly it is passed first to the insurance company, which is nothing more than a collector of money from the general public, and another added expense along the line. It seems, however, to be the best way we can devise to salve the wounds of the hurt.

Senator Norris is happy once more. For months he feasted upon the fear that if Henry Ford were given Muscle Shoals to develop a great and lasting wrong would be done. Now he is reveling in the belief that the Underwood bill is a covert effort to transfer the property to the Alabama Power company, which he is quite sure is a part of that mysterious figure, the power trust. His plan is to hand it over to the government, which he was distrusting very vehemently some months ago when Secretary Fall was on the spit. Senator Ladd, another progressive, recently wrote a series of articles in which he proved that Senator Norris had his facts on crooked. We note, however, that the senator is still using his old set of facts.

A Lincoln parent has been much interested in the character of the books that seem to be popular among the high school set, and he has been diligently reading them, as a duty, and not as a pleasure. He is appalled, being what the young folks pityingly call "Mid-Victorian," at what he is assured by his offspring are the books that "everybody" reads. His astonishment is about equally divided between the fact that these books are apparently relished by well bred and reasonably well born young people, and the fact that there can be found men and women who will deliberately write what they must know when they are doing it books that will corrupt manners if not thoughts.

A small town young married woman recently poured out her full heart into the sympathetic ears of Mary Gordon. She said that in her town there was a certain clique who had a little more money than she and her husband or were in receipt of larger incomes, and that they acted setup about it, or, as they say in up-to-date circles, somewhat spiffy Youth doesn't like to be treated this way, and it resents it. Elderly people who have attained philosophical heights just smile over it, and pity them for their presumption based on such slender foundations. We don't blame youth for getting mad over it, however. The assumption of superiority is nothing less than impertinence.

We have never been able to understand why some persons fear a rising in this country of what in Europe they call the proletariat, which we interpret to mean the poor people. Nowhere else in the world and in no other period of its history did the poor man have more encouragement and more champions than now, and the result has been the rise of a tremendous number of them to positions of wealth and power. The politicians try to make him believe he is discriminated against, but the only person any man need be afraid of as hindering him in climbing upward is himself

BRAIN TESTS

(By Sam Loyd.)

4 Minutes to Answer This.

An investigator of foreign university training, describes a beer drinking contest between the Red Caps and the Blues. In his surprising account it appears that each student invited all the others to pledge his good health in flowing bumpers of beer. There were less than two dozen students present, and yet the Red Caps collectively Blue Caps.

How many bumpers were consumed at that intellectual contest?

EFFECT OF CONSISTENCY IS ALWAYS ATTRACTIVE

Jacobean Corner Shows Charm of Adherence to Style.

By MARIAN MOORE

If you want to see a living room grouping which has all the qualities that such a grouping should have, consider carefully this picture of today. First of all, there is plenty of comfort here, then there is unity of color and furnishings, the accessories that need to be there, are at hand, and the whole is a most harmonious setting, brought about by the consistent use of the Jacobean idea.

Although the background of panelled oak walls is not absolutely necessary in a room to be "done" in the Jacobean style, yet the charm of this wall, especially as it is used here, can't be surpassed. These
